BIDEN CALLS XI JINPING A DICTATOR AFTER UNSUCCESSFUL US-CHINA TALKS

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken wrapped up his China visit on Tuesday without making any substantial progress on easing tensions

WAR OF WORDS BETWEEN US PREZ, BEIJING

Addressing a fundraiser in California ahead of next year's presidential election, US President Joe Biden on Wednesday said, "That's a great embarrassment for dictators," referring to a suspected Chinese spy balloon that was shot down by the US Air Force in February. China hit back promptly, calling Biden's remark "irresponsible" and a "blatant political provocation"

Modi hardsells India's soft power at UN event

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday pitched for making yoga a part of everyone's life as he led a historic event at the UN headquarters in New York to commemorate the 9th International Day of Yoga, attended by top UN officials, diplomats and prominent personalities.

The event witnessed participation of yoga enthusiasts representing 135 nations, setting a new Guinness World Record for the highest number of nationalities partaking in a yoga session at the iconic North Lawn of the UN headquarters.

The attendees included diplomats, officials, academics, healthcare professionals, technocrats, industry leaders such as Csaba Korosi, President of the 77th United Nations General Assembly, Eric Adams, Mayor of New York City, Amina J Mohammed, Deputy Secretary-General of the United Nations and Chair of the United Nations Sustainable Development Group, Hollywood actor Richard Gere, and Michelin Star chef Vikas Khanna.

"Let us embrace yoga as a part of our well-being and make it an integral part of our lives," Modi said. Citing UN Secretary General Antonio Guterres's message, he said: "Yoga brings us closer together and enhances the health of the planet".

It was Modi who engineered the creation in 2014 of the International Day of Yoga every June 21 through a UN General Assembly resolution.

"Yoga originates from India and, like all ancient Indian traditions, it is alive, dynamic, and universally applicable. Yoga is a way of life," said Modi, adding: "Yoga is free from copyrights, patents and royalty payments."

This year's theme for the International Yoga Day was 'Yoga for Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam', which roughly translates to 'one earth, one family, one Future'.

The PM, who is visiting the US at the invitation of President Biden and First Lady Jill Biden, will join them for the state banquet along with a number of dignitaries on Thursday. He is also set to address a joint session of the US Congress.

TWITTER WILL FOLLOW LOCAL RULES: MUSK

Prior to the yoga day event, Modi met several prominent figures, including industry leaders such as Tesla CEO Elon Musk. During the meeting, the PM invited Musk to explore investment opportunities in India, especially in the fields of electric mobility and commercial space. Musk responded that India has more promise than any other large country and that he is incredibly excited about its future. Talking to reporters after meeing Modi, Musk said Twitter, the company he owns, does not have a choice but to follow local laws, adding: "We will do our best to provide the freest speech that is possible under the law"

No more bus passes, girl students to get Shakti cards

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

SCHOOL and college-going girls, who used to produce their admission tickets to get yearly bus passes, need not buy passes henceforth.

They can travel by state-run buses for free under Shakti scheme. An official order in this regard is expected soon, according to sources. Like other women passengers, girl students should get Shakti smart cards. Applications for such cards will be received soon, the sources said.

They said conductors of state-run buses have been directed to issue "zero" tickets to girl students. If they have purchased passes for 2023-24, they will be allowed to travel on those routes and conductors have been directed not to issue "zero" tickets to them.

The sources said there is no provision for refund of bus pass fee paid by girl students. School and college-going boys will now be allowed to travel by state-run buses by producing passes issued for the last academic year (2022-23) till June 30.

They should get new passes through the Seva Sindhu portal from July 1. On June 20, 17.89 lakh women travelled by BMTC buses and the total ticket amount exempted under the Shakti scheme was Rs 2.27 crore. KSRTC recorded 17.46 lakh passengers and the exemption was Rs 5.21 crore. NWKRTC recorded 14.47 lakh passengers and the exemption was Rs 3.59 crore. KKRTC registered 8.05 lakh passengers and the total exemption was Rs 2.57 crore.

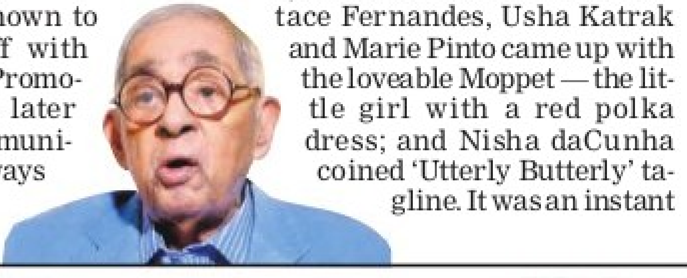
Sylvie's rich heritage of irreverence & butter

GURBIR SINGH

AFTER a long innings of effective advertising copy and sales campaigns, Sylvester daCunha passed away on Tuesday night. He leaves behind wife Nisha daCunha and son Rahul, a creative ad guru in his own right. He also leaves behind the legacy of the 'Utterly-Butterly' Amul Girl who refuses to age and continues to enthrall and poke fun from hoardings and digital media.

Sylvie, as he was known to his friends, started off with Advertising and Sales Promotion in the 1960s, and later founded daCunha Communications. But he will always be remembered for creating the Amul Girl in 1966, an campaign that the Guinness record for the longest running ad campaign that continues to run even today.

His break first came when 'Operation Flood' man Verghese Kurien was looking to counter the more entrenched Polson Butter. Soon after bagging the Amul account, Sylvie realised he had to do something to take the brand beyond the boring tagline it had then — 'Purely, The Best'.



Sylvester and his team of Eustace Fernandes, Usha Katrak and Marie Pinto came up with the loveable Moppet — the little girl with a red polka dress; and Nisha daCunha coined 'Utterly Butterly' tagline. It was an instant hit, and housewives' hearts melted like butter.

Contrary to traditional advertising copy, Amul ads were designed to be not only fun and entertaining, but also irreverent. The very first ad that won rave reviews was of the Amul girl, kneeling in prayer, but with a naughty eye cocked on a slab of butter with the slogan: "Give us this day our daily bread with Amul Butter".

The Amul campaign was among the first to give news context to its sharp and witty one-liners. Nothing was out-of-bounds. Sylvester's copy writers had a free hand. For instance, British Airways was not amused when the Amul girl called it 'British Errways' when the airline lost cricketer Sachin Tendulkar's luggage.

GUARANTEE IN QUESTION

ANNA BHAGYA TO BE DELAYED

State eyes rice from Central agencies at FCI rate

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Anna Bhagya scheme that promises 10 kg of free rice per head to those belonging to Below Poverty Line (BPL) families and Antyodaya Anna Yojana (AAY) card-holders, is likely to face delays.

The scheme was planned to be rolled out on July 1. The reason for the delay is the Centre's alleged turnaround and the struggle by the Congress government to procure rice at more or less the same rate of Food Corporation of India (FCI) at Rs 34 per kg. The Siddaramaiah government also has second thoughts on procuring foodgrains from states such as Punjab, Chhattisgarh, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana and West Bengal (all non-BJP ruled states) for two reasons: They would not be able to meet Karnataka's requirement of 2,28,000 metric tonnes, and the higher procurement price.

Addressing the media after meeting President Droupadi Murmu in New Delhi on Wednesday, CM Siddaramaiah said, "It will cost Rs 42/kg in Andhra; Telangana stated only paddy is available; Chhattisgarh CM told me they are in a position to supply 1 lakh metric tonne of rice only for one month; and Punjab CM stated that he will discuss with officials and get back."

Siddaramaiah said if the government went to the open market, it would take two months to procure rice. Instead, quotations have been invited from central agencies such as National Co-operative Consumers Federation (NCCF), National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation (NAFED) and Kendriya Bhandar.

These agencies will call for tenders, take a call on the price and let the Karnataka government know soon. But the price is expected to be a little higher than FCI's Rs 34 per kg.

Siddaramaiah reiterated that all this had come to pass as "the Union Government played politics".

CASH CRUNCH: EGGS ONCE A WEEK IN MID-DAY MEAL

Due to a lack of funds and the rising cost of eggs, the Department of School Education and Literacy (DSEL) has announced that egg distribution as part of the midday meal scheme will be temporarily limited to once a week. According to a circular, the decision to reduce the number of eggs distributed will be revised after the presentation of the state budget on July 7.

Quick darshan for elderly in state temples

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE state government has made arrangements for senior citizens aged 65 and above to have a quick darshan of deities at all its major temples without waiting in queues. The Department of Endowments has issued a circular in this regard.

Presently, some temples have special paid darshan for senior citizens. Such a facility will be made free for senior citizens.

According to the circular, a large number of devotees visit state-owned temples (Grade A and Grade B) daily. Senior citizens are forced to wait in queues for long hours for darshan. To avoid this inconvenience, senior citizens will be taken for darshan directly without waiting in queues.

This decision comes in the wake of appeals for easy darshan of deities in temples for senior citizens.

Senior citizens can avail this facility by showing their Aadhar cards (for age proof), the circular stated.

The department has directed all deputy commissioners and tahsildars to set up help desks in major temples for senior citizens.

DEPUTY Chief Minister and Bengaluru Urban district in-charge minister D K Shivakumar on Wednesday launched a dedicated portal for Brand Bengaluru.

He had announced this after a meeting with the head honchos of IT capital Bengaluru a few days ago. Citizens can now give their ideas for the image makeover of Bengaluru by visiting brandbengaluru.karnataka.gov.in.

Addressing reporters, Shivakumar said Bengaluru has a population of 1.3 crore and seeing the development of the city, more people are hoping to settle down in the IT capital.

"A large sum of money from Bengaluru is going to the state and union governments in the form of taxes. Those who come to Bengaluru for jobs and education are not going back. To reduce the burden on Bengaluru, we have formulated a programme for development of Tier-2 and Tier 3 cities to provide high quality education," Shivakumar said.

He said the head honchos of Bengaluru had offered suggestions to many issues affecting the city. "Now, we seek suggestions from the general public and the media. They can give their suggestions to the government till this month-end," he added.

The minister said officers and experts favoured a high-density corridor, expansion of Namma Metro connectivity, road widening projects, elevated roads, conversion of NICE Road into a ring road, and construction of tunnel roads in the city to ease traffic congestion. They also stressed the need for monorail or suburban rail. Experts also gave several suggestions to improve cleanliness in the city, improve water supply, waste disposal, efficient administration and to tackle corruption.

Shivakumar said there would be a hike in water tariff as it was last revised in 2014. The Bengaluru Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) has to meet various expenses, including hefty power charges, he added.

Adopt yoga, live healthy, says Gundu Rao

Enthusiasm marks Int'l Day of Yoga

BENGALURU: The ninth International Day of Yoga was celebrated with much enthusiasm here on Wednesday. A large number of people, including schoolchildren, participated in yoga sessions held across the city. Students from Greenwood High School, members of Karnataka Sanskrit Society, employees of NIMHANS, and personnel and staff of IAF, Coast Guard, and Air Force Command Hospital took part in yoga sessions held to mark the occasion. Air Marshal R Radhish, Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief, Training Command, participated in a programme at the Headquarters Training Command in Bengaluru. Around 5,000 people participated in an event organised by BGS Health City. Addressing the participants, Minister of Medical Education Dr Sharan Prakash Patil highlighted the importance of yoga.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

YOGA is India's gift to the entire world, it is an ancient practice that originated thousands of years ago and continues to represent India's culture, Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao said here on Wednesday morning.

The incidence of non-communicable diseases has increased in the country, and people's poor lifestyle is the primary cause, he said during the 9th International Day of Yoga celebrations. Rao urged citizens to practice yoga as it helps connect the mind and spirit with the body.

The minister was speaking at the inaugural ceremony of International Day of Yoga, organised by the health and family welfare department in front of Vidhana Soudha. The annual event saw hundreds of people, including youngsters, adults and senior citizens spread across the length of Vidhana Soudha, participating in the hour-long yoga session from 6:30am. Besides Rao, Karnataka Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot, Assembly Speaker UT Khader, retired Indian athlete Anjum Bobby George and health department officials also performed yoga.

Governor Gehlot urged people to inculcate yoga in their daily lifestyle. He said steps are being taken to make Karnataka the leading state in practising yoga. The discipline promotes the concept of 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam', which means yoga for the welfare of all, and is also the theme for this year. Gehlot also congratulated the people for creating a Guinness World Record for organising a large-scale yoga event on National Youth Festival Day in January 2023. Gundu Rao ascertained that the state will make dedicated efforts to promote yoga at the household level, schools and colleges. He explained that research has confirmed the benefits of yoga in relieving multiple health problems. Citizens must take advantage of the 376 Ayush centres and 7,270 health and wellness centres which provide one-hour yoga classes every day across Karnataka, the minister added.

BMTC MD rides bus to assess staff, passenger issues after Shakti launch

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a bid to get a first-hand experience of the problems faced by women passengers, apart from staff of the Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC), after the rollout of the Shakti scheme, which offers free travel to women in the state, BMTC Managing Director Sathyavati took rides on the corporation's buses on Wednesday.

As a common passenger, Sathyavati boarded the first bus at the Shanthinagar bus stand, and then went around Ramakrishna Ashram, Ganesh Bhavan, Seeta Circle, Hosakerehalli Cross, and Nayandahalli aboard other BMTC buses. En route, she covertly observed the behaviour of the drivers and conductors towards passengers, especially women, and also noted the problems faced by the latter. She ended her trip by alighting at the Deepanjalinagar bus stop, and headed to the nearby bus depot.

BMTC Managing Director Sathyavati (seated, wearing mask) during one of the bus rides that she took in Bengaluru on Wednesday | EXPRESS

Sharing her first-hand experience of the commute with TNIE, Sathyavati said that the commute was good as she could see for herself the issues faced by women and the staff. "During the peak hours, our conductors find it difficult to verify address proofs, like Aadhaar and other ID cards of women passengers, who wish to travel free under the Shakti scheme," Sathyavati said, adding that this would be resolved after the Shakti Smart Cards are distributed. The women can display these cards to the conductors, which will also help save time.

Other than that, Sathyavati said she did not find any other major issue affecting the smooth implementation of the Shakti scheme. She spoke to the BMTC staff at the Deepanjalinagar bus depot to understand their problems.

HC notice to state govt for failing to constitute panels for city's upkeep

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday issued notice to the state government on a public interest litigation filed by Umapathi S, a city-based advocate, alleging that the government has not complied with provisions of the Bruhat Bangalore Mahanagara Palike Act, 2020, about the constitution of the Metropolitan Planning Authority, Heritage Conservation Committee and Grievance Redressal Authority.

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice MGS Kamal also issued notice to the BBMP, after hearing the petition.

The petitioner contended that the authorities and committees have to be constituted as per Sections 301, 367 and 368 of the BBMP Act for proper planning and management of the entire city. As a result of non-constitution of those committees, the citizens of Bengaluru are facing the issue of haphazard growth, traffic issues, water shortage, pollution, concretion, loss of heritage buildings, preservation and conservation of historical buildings and a host of other factors, he alleged.

He submitted that the state government has not constituted even the Grievance Redressal Authority to address maladministration and civic issues.

BBMP reclaims 50,000 sqft in Bommanahalli Zone

The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) reclaimed 50,000 sqft of land in Bommanahalli Zone, valued at Rs 50 crore. According to Palike officials, after the land at Survey No. 79/5A of Doddakalsandra Village in BBMP Ward 197 was transferred to the BBMP a decade ago, some people had built temporary structures, and later when the Palike wanted to fence the property, the occupants filed a case in the Civil Court. In April this year, the court, however, ruled the land in BBMP's favour, following which bulldozers cleared the encroachments and began fencing the property.

Palike questioned over encroachment drive

The Karnataka High Court on Wednesday orally observed that there is a "chaotic situation" in the BBMP regarding the demolition drive launched for the removal of encroachment of Storm Water Drains (SWD) in Bengaluru. A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale made this oral observation, after noting that as the monsoon is approaching, if effective steps are not taken to remove encroachments, the situation would become almost unmanageable for the BBMP, and it may also cause health hazards. Meanwhile, BBMP's counsel submitted that the demolition drive is on and two weeks are required to submit a fresh status report, which was considered. Chief Justice Varale orally observed that "we have seen in the newspaper reports that encroachers of SWDs are showing stay orders whenever your (BBMP) officers go there for demolition… Why are your officers not made aware by the corporation if the stay orders are granted before they go to the spot?" "There is no proper coordination, though there are many wings, including the engineering wing, in the corporation. There is a chaotic situation in the corporation… Nobody knows what they are doing," he orally observed.

BBMP's stray dog census from July 1

ENS @ Bengaluru

AFTER a gap of nearly four years, the BBMP will commence the exercise of counting stray dogs from July 1. The last census of stray dogs in the city was done in 2019.

According to BBMP, the census will help in understanding the impact of its Animal Birth Control measures.

In 2019, the city's eight zones were home to close to 3 lakh stray dogs. The Palike, apart from ABC measures, also started an anti-rabies vaccination drive.

According to Dr KV Thrilok Chandra, BBMP Special Commissioner (Health), the programme will begin from July 1 and go on for a duration of two weeks. Officials from BBMP Veterinary Department will have to cover each ward. Pet dogs will not be included in the exercise. KP Ravikumar, Joint Director, BBMP, Animal Husbandry Department, said the urban body has covered 1.5 lakh stray dogs under its ABC programme and so far, 4.5 lakh dogs have been administered with the anti-rabies vaccine.

The BBMP will also insert a microchip on stray dogs to strengthen its vaccination programme, the official added.

PETER VIDAL

22ND June : I'd just like to remind you of one of my favourite star-myths. It's a Native American Cherokee story claiming that 'humanity was created by the female Sun. She, with her brother, the Moon, are God's greatest angels'. This reminds me of the ancient texts which relate how God put the Sun and Moon in the sky as bright lights to show us the way forward. Many myths point to the same underlying message!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You should spare yourself some time for quiet contemplation. Reflection on your past, present and future will be vital if you are to get a current partnership into perspective. And don't worry if a partner is behaving out of character. It should pass in time.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Let's face it, you're not inclined to compromise if you're not in the wrong. You can be courteous, sensitive and willing to help some of the time, but sometimes other people have to recognise that they can't sit on you without facing the consequences! Mind you, you do need to consider other people's feelings.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
The most positive area of your life should be work, even though there is a serious danger of emotional explosions. You may also be inclined to worry about your physical fitness and energy levels, in which case you should seek reassurance - and get the best advice.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
A series of planets places the spotlight clearly on passion, adventure and romance. The conclusion seems to be fairly clear: everything that happens will be reflected through your deep-seated desire for emotional ecstasy. That's the theory. The real outcome might be different!

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
It's difficult to see whether you will be vowing to leave home, evict a partner or merely spend your time shifting the furniture around. One way or another, you should indulge the pressure for emotional change. And confide in the people who understand you!

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You may devote whatever spare time you have to making sure that, even if a partnership is coming to an end, at least you have your memories. On a purely material level, you may allow financial and business plans to drift, unless you're facing an immovable deadline.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Your daily stars indicate the need to get on with work, but your weekly and monthly cycles reveal that this may be well-nigh impossible. Life, as usual, is complicated. Your colleagues, partners and loved ones are all likely to create an emergency which throws you off course.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
One of your major strengths is your ability to stick to a particular course of action. Some people call it stubbornness but, at the moment, it's what you need if you're to achieve your romantic goal. And if other people laugh at your dreams, that's their problem!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You are bound to be irritated by a close friend or relation, whether you get what you want or not. You'll be troubled by the thought that the grass is greener on the other side, convinced that a partner is having an easy ride. But the truth is that you might have got the best of a deal. Be a bit more tolerant!

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You may take decisions and hold discussions. It's important to have an exchange of views, because there's a slim chance that a little intelligent dialogue could help break through the day's general emotional turmoil. All you have to do is make the effort!

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You must know that you are secure, and in this knowledge you can afford to take a few risks here and there. At work the positive angle is provided by the possibility that old wounds may now be healed. Build bridges, mend fences, and make the world a better place.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Your talent for survival is based on your ability to swim in and out of difficult situations before partners even notice you've arrived - or left. This is one of those moments when you can, if you wish, make yourself invisible. Mind you, don't take chances.

DCPs, SPs told to visit stations, go on night rounds

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

DIRECTOR General & Inspector General of Police (DG&IGP) Alok Mohan has directed all Deputy Commissioners of Police (DCPs) and Superintendents of Police (SPs) to visit one police station every day, and go on surprise night rounds at least once a week.

In a direction issued on Wednesday, the DG&IGP stated that all DCPs and SPs shall visit one police station every day, if not otherwise busy with bandobust or VVIP duties. "They shall check on the functioning of police stations during their visit. In addition to interacting with police officers, they shall also interact with police constables/head constables as well as other visitors/public who are at the police station," he stated.

He also directed them to perform one surprise night round at least once a week, to check on night round officers and night beats. "They shall also log into the e-beat system to check on the night beats. They shall ensure that all subordinate police officers on night rounds and beat duty log on to the e-beat system/app," the police chief said.

Culprits held for attacking loco pilot

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TAKING note of a report in The New Indian Express on an assistant loco pilot being assaulted by three miscreants while on his way to work at Krishnarajapuram railway station, police filed an FIR on his behalf. Ramamurthy Nagar police met the injured staffer, Pramit Haldar, at Narayana Hospital in Malleswaram.

The culprits were arrested on Monday, DCP (East) Bheemashankar S Guled said. The TNIE report headlined 'Asst loco pilot knifed on way to KR Puram station, out of danger' had appeared on June 17.

Guled told TNIE, "Our staff met him and collected all details as he was in hospital. We have decided to increase police patrolling on this stretch. We also held a meeting with railway staff who work at the station, and discussed safety measures with them. We have also asked BBMP to provide extra lighting in the area."

PSI RECRUITMENT SCAM: 52 CANDIDATES DEBARRED FOR GOOD

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AS many as 52 candidates, including three women, who allegedly indulged in malpractice in the exams held to recruit 545 police sub-inspectors (civil) in 2021, have been permanently debarred from all police recruitment exams.

The Director General of Police (Recruitment) issued orders to this effect on Tuesday. The 52 candidates have been debarred as per Rule 20 (misconduct) of the Karnataka Civil Services (General Recruitment) Rules, 1977.

The order stated that the candidates have been permanently debarred as investigations found that they followed illegal means in the exam process and as FIRs have been registered and chargesheets have been submitted to courts against them.

As per the order, these candidates are debarred from appearing for exams held by the police department for the recruitment of police constables, PSIs and any other post.

The PSI recruitment exams were held in seven centres on October 3, 2021. Several FIRs were registered in this connection in various police stations of Bengaluru, Kalaburagi, Hubballi-Dharwad and Tumakuru and the previous BJP government entrusted the investigation of these cases to the CID.

The CID had arrested several persons, including senior IPS officer Amrit Paul, who was the ADGP of the recruitment wing

Woman kills two kids, ends life in Kolar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolar

A woman committed suicide by hanging after killing her two children in Uppakunte village of Kolar taluk.

The deceased has been identified as Suguna (32), a KSRTC employee. Police said she hanged her son Preetham Gowda (12) and daughter Ishitha (5) and then ended her life. She was married to Murali, a KSRTC employee in Malur depot. Police have filed two cases -- one against Suguna for killing the two children and another against her husband under Section 306 of the IPC (abetment to suicide). The Kolar Rural circle-inspector said Murali has been arrested. Further investigation is on.

Reva to introduce 'adaptive learning', use AI to assist students

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

REVA University has announced that it will introduce the concept of 'Adaptive Learning', making use of artificial intelligence (AI) for courses in the upcoming academic year.

The university said it will be the first in the country to do so. "Through Adaptive Learning, the university will provide the latest offerings to assist students to learn efficiently and effectively, besides giving exposure to multiple courses and innovation avenues. At Reva Business School, for instance, our focus is on mentoring and grooming leaders and managers who will make a difference in the global economy," Reva University Chancellor Dr Shyama Raju said on Wednesday.

Reva had been ranked in the 51-100 band in 'Innovation', under National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) 2023. The university announced that it would make use of Adaptive Learning in courses to do away with the mindset of 'one size fits all' in education. "Each student has a unique learning style and their own struggles. With technology invading our lives, especially with the recent AI advances, a whole new experience of personalized learning has now emerged," the university said.

Meanwhile, as education moves towards a holistic approach, with focus on humanities and wellness, the university stated that it would encourage courses in the area of film studies and athlete wellness.

Drunk, disturbed man vandalises church, cops send him for test

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AN emotionally disturbed person, who was allegedly under the influence of alcohol, trespassed St Pius X Church on Kammanahalli Road, and vandalised some articles kept inside.

Banaswadi police arrested the accused, Tom Mathew (29), a local resident. Police said Mathew trespassed the church premises around 4am Wednesday, and broke open the lock of the main door using a hammer. With the same hammer, he vandalised the church, breaking flower pots and other articles that were kept on the stage. As two security guards tried to nab him, he got into an argument with them. Meanwhile, police received information about the incident and Hoysala patrol staff rushed to the spot at 4.30am and took him into custody.

"He was found to be under the influence of alcohol and did not answer any of the questions of the policemen. He was brought to the police station. As it was a sensitive case, police teams were formed to find out his details. They traced his address and spoke to his mother. The family has been living in Banaswadi for more than 20 years. Mathew was emotionally disturbed after his father deserted him and his mother about four years ago," DCP (East) Dr Bheemashankar Guled said.

Of late, Mathew had reportedly been telling his mother that he was God. "His mother used to come to the same church. His room was searched and used liquor packets were found. We have subjected him to medical tests," the DCP added.

Police registered a case under Section 295, 427 and 447 of the IPC, and are investigating.

The owner Pramod S K had let a 17-year-old boy to ride the vehicle. The police stated in a release that on June 19, Thirthahalli Dy SP Gajanana Vamana, while checking vehicles near Kushavati under the limits of Thirthahalli Police Staion, found a 17-year-old boy riding the two wheeler without a helmet. The police booked the owner Pramod S. The Principal Civil Judge and JMFC Court Judge convicted the owner and imposed a fine of Rs 20,000 on him.

Man ends life over family, financial distress

Bengaluru: A 28-year-old man died by suicide at the residence of his partner, with whom he had an extra-marital affair. Nagesh, a resident of Adakamaranahalli, was running a live band in partnership, near MG Road. Nagesh was married and had a child, and was living with his family in Adakamaranahalli. At the same time, he was in a relationship with a woman who had earlier worked with his live band and had a child with her too. He used to visit her regularly. On Tuesday evening, he went to her house in Annapoorneshwari Nagar and hanged himself from a fan, using a saree. The woman, who later found him hanging, took him down with the help of neighbours and rushed him to a hospital, where he was declared brought dead. "He hasn't left a note, but investigations reveal that he was in financial distress after incurring huge losses in business and also had a lot of family issues, which must have driven him to take the extreme step," said police.

SIDDU MAKES DIPLOMATIC MOVE, PAYS PREZ, SHAH 'COURTESY CALL'

Talks rice with HM, gets positive signal; says Centre's policy goes against Food Security Act

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

CM Siddaramaiah greets Union Home Minister Amit Shah in New Delhi on Wednesday

KARNATAKA Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Wednesday called on President Droupadi Murmu and Union Home Minister Amit Shah in New Delhi. It was the CM's maiden visit after taking charge as chief minister.

Though they were termed "courtesy calls", the meeting with Shah had something to do with the state's development and administration, and Siddaramaiah had raised certain issues, including the procurement of rice for the 'Anna Bhagya' scheme.

He also got a positive response from Shah, sources said. But what transpired between Siddaramaiah and Shah during their one-on-one meeting was not known.

CMO sources informed that he had conveyed to Shah that the recent policy of the Centre is against the Food Security Act, as it directly affects the 'two meal a day' scheme for the poor. "Therefore, it would be good if the attitude of not giving foodgrains to states can be changed," he is quoted as telling Shah.

Amit Shah told the chief minister that he would discuss it with Union Food Minister Piyush Goyal on Thursday morning, the CMO clarified.

The meeting came hours after Siddaramaiah accused the Centre of playing "dirty politics" over rice, as it has allegedly taken a decision to discontinue the sale of rice to states.

Siddaramaiah, who wrapped up his day-long visit with his cabinet colleagues, most of them his confidants, also put the issue of power sharing on the back burner. Reacting to former chief minister H D Kumaraswamy that the Congress government will not survive for five years, Siddaramaiah shot back that he was not heading an alliance government. Instead, the government has a full mandate of 135 MLAs.

According to political pundits, he had indirectly sent a message that the issue of power sharing does not arise. It may be noted here that D K Shivakumar and his supporters had been claiming the CM's post and there were also murmurs about the high command striking a power sharing deal.

Siddaramaiah's official visit had no pre-scheduled meeting with party high command leaders as the meeting of all ministers called by AICC president Mallikarjuna Kharge on Wednesday was put off, as senior leader Rahul Gandhi was abroad.

Amit Shah to speak with Goyal

THE Congress government has been alleging that the Centre decided to discontinue sale of rice to states under the Open Market Sale Scheme-Domestic (OMSS-D) through which Karnataka was to get its stockpile of rice at a fixed price of Rs 34 per kg to implement the Anna Bhagya scheme.

This, despite the FCI agreeing to provide 2,28,425.750 metric tonnes of rice to Karnataka at Rs 34 per kg on June 12. Citing inflationary trends, the Centre instead decided to auction the surplus rice stored with the FCI in the open market, which is bought by the highest bidder. For Karnataka, or any other state, to buy rice from the open market would have been much costlier than buying it under OMSS-D.

Meanwhile, Union Home Minister Amit Shah, during his meeting with Siddaramaiah on Wednesday night, told him that he would speak to Union Consumer Affairs & Food and Public Distribution Minister Piyush Goyal with regard to procurement of rice for Karnataka's Anna Bhagya scheme.

Siddaramaiah, Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa, Housing Minister Zameer Ahmed, Social Welfare Minister Dr HC Mahadevappa and Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh were in New Delhi to pursue the matter.

HDK defends Centre, says Congress promised schemes without any prep

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

JDS leader H D Kumaraswamy on Wednesday said the Siddaramaiah-led Congress government has shot itself in the foot regarding the 10-kg free rice guarantee, and is now passing the buck on the Centre over its implementation.

"The government keeps on making excuses on the Anna Bhagya rice guarantee every day and fools the people of the state. The Congress just followed the advice of some election strategist and announced the guarantee without due diligence. Did they inform the central government about the additional free rice promise? Why should the Centre give rice now?" he told reporters on Wednesday.

Defending the Centre, he said it will have its own commitments and the Congress government should have its own plans to implement the schemes that it promised. "Did I ask the Union government for the financial assistance to waive of farm loans when I was chief minister. We generated funds from our own resources and took action," he said.

Instead of pointing fingers at the central government and the Food Corporation of India, Siddaramaiah should have held talks on Anna Bhagya with Union Minister for Consumer Affairs Piyush Goyal, he noted.

The former CM also expressed doubts on the implementation of all the five guarantees promised by the Congress as he felt that there are problems in the guidelines. "The people might have voted the Congress to power owing to the guarantees, but now all are watching the drama of excuses," he added.

The Gruha Jyothi scheme is also in a shambles and the vice-chancellor of Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU) was shocked to see the inflated electricity bill, he said.

He also criticised both the national parties -- Congress and BJP -- for indulging in politics over the guarantees.

Over 12 lakh register for Gruha Jyothi in 4 days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

OVER 12 lakh people have registered for the Gruha Jyothi scheme since its launch on June 18. Till 7 pm on Wednesday, 3.6 lakh people registered for the scheme. From Thursday, people can register for the scheme in all the 2,000 electricity offices across the state as well as in KarnatakaOne, BengaluruOne and GramaOne centres.

The scheme aims to provide up to 200 units of free electricity to all households in the state with a simple registration process. Only the customer ID of the electricity bill, Aadhaar card and mobile number are required. The government has requested people not to crowd the centres as the deadline for the registration has been withdrawn.

State budget tight, kids to get only one egg a week

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

DUE to a lack of funds and rising cost of eggs, the school education department has announced that eggs as part of the midday meal scheme will be temporarily limited to once a week.

According to a circular released by the Department of School Education and Literacy (DSEL), the decision to reduce the number of eggs will be revised after presentation of the state budget on July 7. Previously, under the midday meal scheme, eggs would be given twice a week, and were distributed for 46 days of the academic year. In case a child did not want eggs, it would be substituted with bananas or chikki.

However, with a change in government, this is also likely to change. The department released a circular, stating that the distribution of eggs, chikki and bananas would be temporarily limited to once a week, due to a lack of funds. However, they stated that it would be resumed twice a week after presentation of the state budget. Officials said the change would be reversed.

In the meantime, sources from the department stated that a proposal is being made to the government to increase the number of eggs given to students. While currently, eggs are given on 46 days of the year, the department has proposed over twice the increase, appealing for eggs to be given on 100 days.

Currently, the scheme is running as per the previous year's budget allocation, however, this is expected to change in the coming year. As per the earlier budget, the price of purchasing and cooking the egg was put at Rs 6 -- the egg was to be purchased at Rs 5, and boiling and shelling of the egg to cost Re 1. However, with egg prices soaring to over Rs 6, this has caused issues with the purchase of eggs. As on Wednesday, an egg costs Rs 6.03.

CM'S WIFE ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL, CONDITION STABLE

Bengaluru : Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's wife Parvathi was admitted to Manipal Hospitals in Bengaluru late on Tuesday evening with complaints of breathing difficulties. Dr Guruprasad S Bhat, consultant pulmonologist, said, "Parvathi's vitals are stable. She had breathing difficulties and a cough while she was admitted. She is currently on nebulisation and will be discharged in a day or two." Earlier, she was admitted to the ICU at the Old Airport Road branch of the hospital, and was kept on oxygen support. Her condition stabilised on Wednesday morning and she was moved to the ward. The hospital's bulletin stated that Parvathi had symptoms of mild pneumonia. Siddaramaiah delayed his flight to New Delhi early on Wednesday morning by a few hours and met his wife at the hospital. ENS

New KMF chief for hike in milk prices

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

NEWLY elected Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF) chairman Bheema Naik on Wednesday hinted at increasing the procurement of milk and hiking the selling price.

He will soon lead a delegation of the presidents of all the 14 milk producers' unions of the state to meet Chief Minister Siddaramaiah as well as Cooperation Minister KN Rajanna and Animal Husbandry Minister K Venkatesh.

"Due to inflation, the prices of all commodities, including fodder for cattle, have gone up. So, the hike in the price of the milk will be discussed with the CM," he told TNIE.

"My priority as chairman is to increase the procurement of milk from 94 lakh litres per day to 1.20 crore litres as there is a huge demand for Nandini products, especially ghee that alone requires 15 lakh litres of milk per day to produce," he said.

Bheema Naik

It may be noted here that the price of milk was hiked by Rs 2 in November 2022. A couple of weeks ago, the Bengaluru Milk Union Limited (Bamul) and Mandya Milk Producers Union (Manmul) reduced the procurement price by Rs 1 that triggered a controversy. Following this, Siddaramaiah had intervened and the status quo was maintained.

Elected unopposed

Bheema Naik was elected unopposed in the elections as no others had stood for the coveted post. The new chairman's tenure will be up to September 2024.

He will succeed Balachandra Jarkholi of the BJP, who held the post for four years, and had to quit due to the new Congress government taking over. Besides, there was also a technical issue that he was not an elected chairman of the KMF. So, he paved the way for Bheema Naik, who is considered as a staunch supporter of Siddaramaiah. Ministers K N Rajanna and K Venkatesh were also present during the election of the new chairman.

All police stations to get cyber wing to combat fake news: Parameshwara

FAKE NEWS
SORRY
EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

A DAY after Chief Minister Siddaramaiah announced plans to tackle spread of fake news on social media, Home Minister G Parameshwara disclosed that every police station across the state will have a dedicated cyber wing to combat the menace.

Speaking to reporters on Wednesday, he said the government will meet representatives of Google, Twitter and Facebook among others and try to work out solutions on tackling face news. "Fake news is rampant on social media and it is increasing day by day. There is a need to control the spread. Strict action will be taken against those who spread rumours and fake news," he said.

Industries Minister MB Patil said he, too, was a victim of fake news. "Fortunately, I won in the polls, but the damage was done. Whatever be the religion, or caste, or party, it is not right to spread fake news. No one should damage the character of others," he said and added that the opinion of experts and other stakeholders will be sought. "We need to study what other states are doing to tackle the menace and adopt a mechanism which will be decided by the Home Minister."

Patil had complained against fake news being circulated against his name. "A fact-check team found out the truth and those who spread the fake news was caught. However, that post is still being circulated. What about the damage done?" he said.

First-time MLAs to get taste of Assembly proceedings

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FOR the first time, the Karnataka Legislative Assembly will conduct a three-day workshop for first-time MLAs from June 26. The first timers will get training classes from experts as well as former CMs and former Speakers on Assembly proceedings. There will also be training on fitness.

Speaking to reporters on Wednesday, Speaker UT Khader said the training programme will be held from June 26 to June 28 for 70 MLAs who have been elected for the first time to the Assembly. He said the purpose of the workshop is to involve more number of young MLAs to take part in sessions. It will also help them showcase their ideas, vision and talent. The training will be held at Kshemavana SDM Institute of Naturopathy and Yogic Sciences in Nelamangala on the outskirts of Bengaluru. "We have appealed to all first timers to keep their work schedule aside and attend the workshop," he said.

Khader said on June 25, legislators will reach Kshemavana and get themselves registered. For three hours from 6 am, they will be involved in health programmes and later in the day, between 10 am onwards, senior MLAs and leaders will give lectures and help them understand the house proceedings.

On June 26, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah will officially inaugurate the event. Deputy CM DK Shivakumar and Law Minister HK Patil will also be in attendance. "The three-day event will also have interaction programmes with the CM and former CMs B S Yediyurappa and HD Kumaraswamy in the evenings. The new members can interact with the senior leaders," he said.

Khader also said sessions will also be held on legislators' rights and their responsibilities, how laws are made and what are the roles of MLAs roles, what is zero hour, starred and unstarred questions, legislative sub-committees, house proceeding and many more. He said they want to bring quality in sessions. The workshop will also stress on bringing awareness among new comers. The training will focus on both physical and mental health and instil confidence among them.

The Legislative session will begin from July 3 and continue till July 14. One July 3, Governor Thaawar Chand Gehlot will address the joint house. On July 7, Siddaramaiah will present the budget.

Apex court refuses to stay TN minister's transfer to pvt hospital

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

IN a setback to the Enforcement Directorate (ED), the Supreme Court on Wednesday refused to pass any order against the Madras High Court's decision to examine a habeas corpus plea filed by the wife of Tamil Nadu minister V Senthil Balaji, arrested last week by the agency over an alleged cash-for-jobs scam.

The court also refused to stay the High Court's decision of allowing him to shift to a private hospital for heart surgery.

Balaji was arrested by the ED last week in connection with the cash-for-jobs scam during his tenure as transport minister between 2011 and 2016. The top court noted that the High Court was yet to render its opinion on the maintainability of the habeas corpus petition.

In its plea, the ED said the High Court erred in entertaining the petition, claiming it was not maintainable after a judicial order had already been passed remanding Balaji in its custody. A vacation bench of Justices Surya Kant and M M Sundresh was of the view that mere entertaining of a habeas corpus plea by the High Court does not mean that it has found the plea to be maintainable and added that the HC should be given an opportunity to render its "viewpoint" on whether an accused can delay police remand on medical grounds and if the time spent in private care can be counted as effective custody.

"You have the right in law to urge before the HC tomorrow that the plea is not maintainable. We as of now have absolutely no reason to doubt the HC's ability to understand and appreciate the correct position of law," Justice Surya Kant the presiding judge of the bench said.

Newborn hippopotamus trampled to death by mother at Bannerghatta

BENGALURU: A newborn hippopotamus died after it was trampled by its own mother within a few hours of its birth at Bengaluru's Bannerghatta Biological Park (BBP) on Wednesday morning. According to BBP officials, it is not uncommon for hippopotamus calves to get trampled by their mothers or by aggressive males. "In the wild, the females who give birth isolate themselves from the pod to safeguard their little ones. But in a zoo setup, this is difficult owing to lack of space. So the zoo keepers have to manually separate them. But in this case, it was not possible as the female hippopotamus, Dashya, gave birth in 7.5 months. Usually, they give birth only in the eighth month. Dashya littered at around 1am. When we went in the morning to inspect her, we found the male calf dead," a BBP official said. In the past, Dashya had lost three of her calves in a similar way. Her two calves — Alok and Sunny — are now aged three and two, respectively. ENS

K'taka HC stays appointment of Prof Lokanath as UoM V-C

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday stayed the appointment of Prof Lokanath NK as Vice-Chancellor of the University of Mysore (UoM). Justice ES Indiresh passed the interim order staying the appointment until further orders, after hearing the petition filed by Prof Sharath Ananthamurthy, son of UR Ananthamurthy, Professor of Physics, University of Hyderabad.

Questioning the legality and validity of the appointment of Prof Lokanath as V-C on March 23, 2023, the petitioner contended that it is shocking and strange that the search committee included Lokanath's name in the panel of three names recommended for the V-C's post though it was found that he is ineligible to be considered in pursuance of scrutiny of his credentials for the appointment as per the UGC regulations.

The petitioner further contended Prof Lokanath suppressed the fact that he is facing criminal prosecution.

HC notice to Centre over Xiaomi's plea

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

The Karnataka High Court on Wednesday issued notice to the Union Government on an appeal filed by Xiaomi Technology India Private Limited against the dismissal of its petition by a single judge. The petition was filed against the seizure of Rs 5,551.27 crore by the Enforcement Directorate (ED).

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice MGS Kamal issued the notice after hearing the appeal against the single judge's order passed on April 21, 2023.

Ruling that there was little scope under Section 37A of the Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA), 1999, to strike it down, the single judge granted liberty to Xiaomi Technology India Private Limited to approach the Appellate Tribunal with an appeal for remedy under Section 37A(5) of the Act.

The order was passed while rejecting the petition filed by Xiaomi, a company that is incorporated in India, though it is a subsidiary of a company in China, and all transactions have happened in India.

Under Section 37A of the Act, an adjudicating officer passed an order on April 29, 2022, to seize the money and the same was confirmed on September 19, 2022, by the competent authority under the Act.

While raising a challenge to the seizure order and the confirmation order, Xiaomi also challenged the constitutional validity of Section 37A of the Act before the single judge.

SC calls stray dog attack on boy 'unfortunate'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi/Kannur

OBSERVING that the death of a 11-year-old differently abled boy in stray dog attack in Kannur was "unfortunate", the Supreme Court on Wednesday sought a response from the Kerala government on a plea seeking permission to euthanise "suspected rabid" and "extremely dangerous" stray dogs in the district. A vacation bench of Justice Surya Kant and Justice MM Sundresh issued a notice to Kerala and directed it to file a reply by July 7 on a petition filed by the Kannur district panchayat. The matter was mentioned before the bench for an urgent hearing.

Eleven-year-old Nihal, who suffered from autism, was found grievously injured in a bush near his home on June 11. He was taken to a hospital where he died.

Welcoming the top court's observation, Kannur District Panchayat President P P Divya said, "We are so happy that, the SC has viewed our petition as a serious issue to be considered urgently. We have hope that the court would understand the seriousness of the situation and would take a favourable decision," she said.

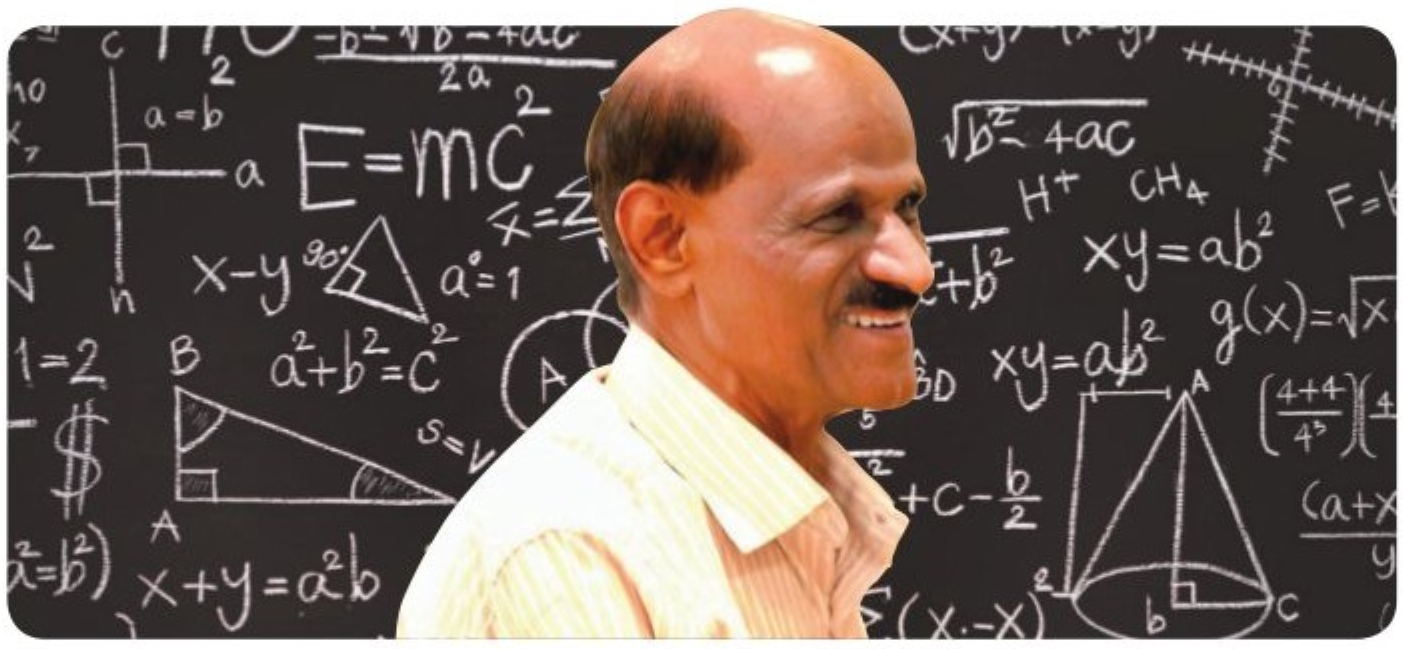
Legacy of Prof. Dr. B.R. Srinivasa

A VISIONARY LEADER AND ADVOCATE OF EDUCATION



IT has been a year since the passing away of Prof. Dr. B.R. Srinivasa, a renowned educationist and philanthropist who left an indelible mark on the educational landscape of Karnataka and beyond. Serving with zeal and dedication, he showered care and affection on all his students. He never married and considered his students as his children. Sometimes strict and harsh, but never callous or indifferent towards his students and colleagues, he was a source of hope for many of them.

Joining Sri Kongadiyappa College, Doddaballapura as a Lecturer in Mathematics in 1973, he retired as its Principal in 2006. A Doctorate holder in the subject, his areas of interest included Philosophy, Literature, and the Humanities. His idea of education was broad and holistic enough to cover several disciplines. After retirement, he remained an integral part of the College till his last breath.

Even before the government introduced the mid-day meal scheme, he introduced the concept in Kongadiyappa Degree College. He put his money into it and got a helping hand from many donors. This project proved to be a boon for students in rural areas. Even today, this scheme is being continued with the help of generous donors. Not many colleges in Karnataka have adopted such a scheme.

As acknowledged by the then Vice-Chancellor, Dr. Thimmappa and the Principal Dr. Venugopal, BRS played a key role in getting grants to complete renovation of University Vishweshwarayya College of Engineering (UVCE) in K.R. Circle and to modernise its library. He was able to convince the VC that these steps were vital for the survival of the college.

Sri Kongadiyappa college

BRS also provided valuable service at the Maths Department of Tumkur University and offered valuable advice and support at various institutions, including NMKRV College, Vijaya College, National College, BMS College, TIFR-CAM (Bangalore), and Bharatiyar University (Coimbatore, Tamil Nadu).

In spite of his many achievements and contributions, Dr. Srinivasa never craved personal fame. He focused his talents on leading the cause of education and improving the lives of those around him. Dr. B.R. Srinivasa will always be remembered as a visionary leader and a true champion of education from the Mudumbai Zamindar family of Vedamma and Raja Iyengar. Dr. BRS was like Nature, which takes the essence of the earth and gives essence to all living things.

(Dr.BRS's personality, achievements, and contribution to the society are part of the folklore of Doddaballapura, and the strong memories of students, colleagues, friends and family members are recounted in this article)

TARDY MONSOON IN KARNATAKA RAISES DROUGHT FEARS

The Siddaramaiah government, which took charge with a bang just a month ago, does not seem to have the blessings of the rain gods. Having rolled out its promised bhagyas, Anna Bhagya and Gruha Jyoti for starters—which have run into rough weather—it is now in a state of panic over an impending drought. The southwest monsoon may have entered Karnataka 10 days ago after good pre-monsoon showers of 116 mm, but districts across the state are facing a rain deficit, a situation compounded by cyclone Biparjoy which dried out the monsoon in the south. There is fear that the rain deficit could hit agriculture and create a power and drinking water shortage. The revenue minister has already admitted a drinking water crisis in over 800 habitations.

The state has seen varying degrees of drought for more than a decade between 2001 and 2019, punctuated by severe floods. Extreme weather events like floods, long and heavy monsoons, and high summer temperatures are slowly gaining acceptance as the norm. South India saw its worst drought during 2016–18 due to a deficit in the northeast monsoon caused by the La Nina effect, leading to a severe water crisis, especially in Chennai. Experts suggest that this rainfall pattern is man-made and due to a "lack of planning by a few at the top", which can hurt the region. They contend that proper policy decisions and management of resources can solve any climate crisis.

As per a study by the Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre, there is an evident change in climate and rainfall in Karnataka. While the amount of annual rainfall has increased in south-interior Karnataka and Malnad regions, there is a reduction in rainfall in north-interior Karnataka and coastal regions. It explains why the state has both floods and droughts simultaneously. Experts attribute this to deforestation and warn that disasters like droughts and floods will be inevitable if this is not curbed. This holds true for other parts of the country, from Kerala, which recorded its wettest year in 2021, to Kedarnath, which has increasingly seen landslides in the past few years.

A normal monsoon is a harbinger of high agricultural productivity and industrial output, with water and power being the twin engines of a healthy economy. Karnataka can ill-afford a drought, especially when the government is looking to distribute free foodgrains and power—two sectors which could be hit the hardest.

CREDIBILITY OF KERALA'S EDUCATION AT STAKE

The higher education sector in Kerala is in the news, mostly for the wrong reasons. The tussle between the state government and the governor over the appointment of vice-chancellors resulted in eight universities in the state not even having full-time V-Cs. Add to this new controversies involving student union leaders, mainly of the ruling front, engaging in unethical practices—and the credibility of Kerala's higher education system is at stake.

In the last few days, a series of irregularities involving leaders from SFI, the student's wing of the CPI(M), has come to light. Allegations have been raised against the leaders, including procuring fake certificates to land plum academic posts or to earn degrees they never enrolled for. K Vidya, a former SFI leader who was accused of producing a fake experience certificate for a job interview and charged with non-bailable offences, was arrested on Wednesday. Similar cases have also cropped up against KSU, the Congress' students wing. That only aggravates the seriousness of the matter. What is more worrying is that all these irregularities have been committed allegedly with the tacit support of various college managements.

This does not mean all is bad in the state's education system. Four institutes from Kerala featured among the top 100 institutes in the country, and 14 colleges made it to the top 100 colleges' list prepared by the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF). But overt politicisation of colleges and universities is certainly hampering the atmosphere of educational institutions. The CPM leadership has distanced itself from the fake certificate row, making it clear that the party will not support the culprits. The SFI, on its part, has expelled the accused. But with these token measures, the ruling front will not be able to wash its hands of putting the credibility of the higher education system at stake. A total cleansing is needed; for that, the first step should be to bring transparency and accountability into the system. The political parties, on their part, should make student leaders accountable for their deeds instead of letting them loose. Everyone should realise that the credibility of educational institutions will be under the scanner if such malpractices continue. And that certainly does not augur well for the state and its future.

QUICK TAKE

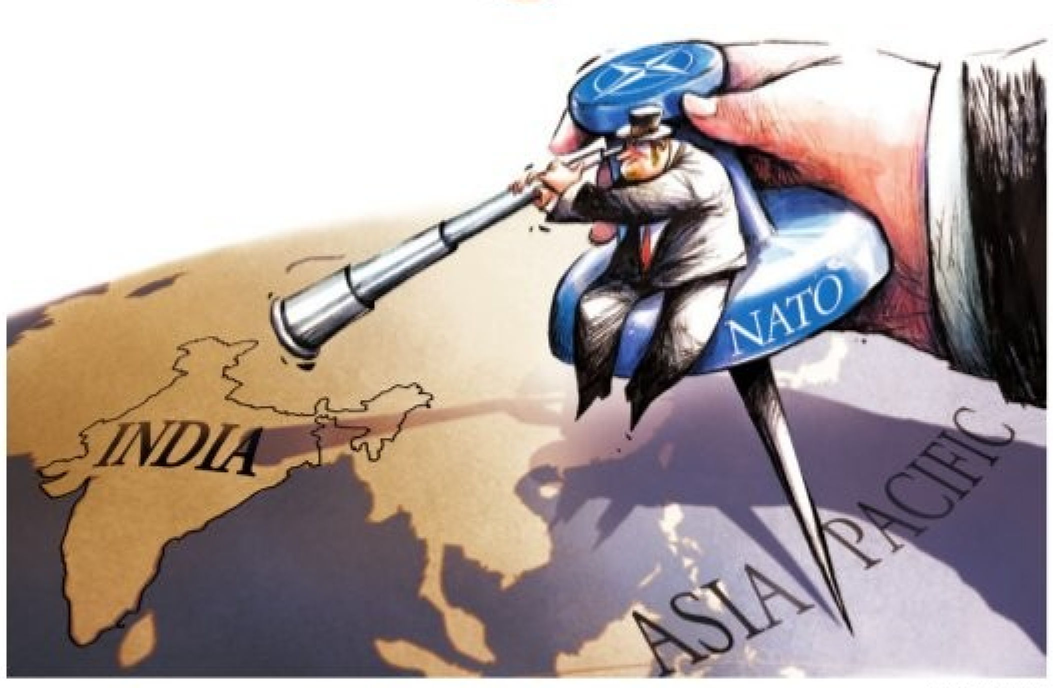
FOOTING THE QUALITY BILL

The government wants footwear makers to follow quality standards. Merely setting limits and deadlines won't help. What's the ultimate aim—to match Italian quality or improve upon cheap Chinese stuff? Uniform standards for all price ranges will destroy small manufacturers financially. And all footwear makers need time and money to make changes. They'll suffer losses, cheaply disposing of inferior raw materials or buying good stuff at high prices. What about selling existing stock? Or the cost of setting up BIS certification facilities? Low-end footwear makers also need to understand quality aspects like impact resistance, protection of metatarsals and from electrical hazards.

A NATO overreach to the Asia-Pacific will pose a major challenge to New Delhi's much-touted 'strategic autonomy'

NATO'S GROWING SHADOW OVER THE ASIA-PACIFIC

E D MATHEW
Former UN Spokesperson



SOUMYADIP SINHA

Is the shadow of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO) looming over India and the Asia-Pacific region? If one heard China's Defence Minister Li Shangfu at the Shangri-La Dialogue, Asia's largest security summit held in Singapore early this month, it is very much so. Taken together with a push to impose a security agenda on the Quadrilateral Security Dialogue, or Quad, the Asia-Pacific is turning out to be a major theatre of big-power rivalry. That puts India in a quandary.

Forging "NATO-like" alliances would plunge the region into a "whirlpool of disputes and conflicts," Li warned at the summit, which was also attended by US Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin. "Today's Asia-Pacific needs open and inclusive cooperation, not buddying up into small cliques," Li said. The "cliques" in question are the Australia, UK, and US (AUKUS) security pact as well as the Quad, of which India is a member along with Australia, Japan and the US.

Li's warning comes in the wake of a US House Select Committee recommending the inclusion of India in NATO Plus, a security arrangement that currently includes NATO and five aligned nations—Australia, New Zealand, South Korea, Japan and Israel. India has, however, brushed aside the idea, with External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar saying that the "NATO template does not apply to India."

In what is going to be the first of its kind in the Asia-Pacific region ("Indo-Pacific" in American lingo), a NATO liaison office will open in Tokyo next year. Last month, Britain and Japan signed a new strategic partnership and agreed to "deepen" collaboration between NATO and Tokyo. During the Shangri-La summit, British Defence Secretary Ben Wallace said having such an office in Japan is "in the interests of NATO".

In addition, NATO plans to further strengthen collaboration with its four major partners in the Asia-Pacific region—Australia, Japan, New Zealand and South Korea, a recent report in Nikkei Asia said. The alliance will formulate an Individually Tailored Partnership Program with all four countries—an upgrade to a higher form of partnership. Its details will be thrashed out during the forthcoming NATO summit in Vilnius, the capital of Lithuania, on July 11 and 12, which all four leaders are expected to attend.

The curiously named House Select Committee on the Strategic Competition between the United States and the Chinese Communist Party is chaired by Republican and China hawk Mike Gallagher who views the competition between China and the US as an "existential struggle". According to the Select Committee, including India in NATO Plus "would build upon the US and India's close partnership to strengthen global security and deter the aggression of the CCP across the Indo-Pacific region."

"Winning the strategic competition with the Chinese Communist Party and ensuring the security of Taiwan demands the United States strengthen ties to our allies and security partners, including India," says the report. Interestingly, India is being called up to the defence of Taiwan, with which New Delhi has no formal diplomatic relations. Nor does Taiwan appear anywhere in India's defence calculations.

Meanwhile, there is a push to make the Quad embrace a security agenda. A report by the United States Studies Centre at the University of Sydney, released early this month, argues that the Quad needs more muscle to live up to its potential and for that, the group should focus on a security agenda, especially maritime security, to serve as a deterrent to China. The purpose is to make the Quad "capable of providing mutual support in crisis or conflict situations, even if its members are not aligned on policy or directly involved in combined operations."

Although accused by Beijing of being an anti-China coalition, the Quad has hitherto refrained from deepening cooperation in the security realm. It has limited itself to contributing to global health as a provider of vaccines, working on climate change, building infrastructure, and cooperating in space. New Delhi has serious qualms about being part of a security alliance against China. The new report aims to whittle down such reservations and make the Quad countries share their capabilities to "seamlessly refuel, resupply and repair ships and aircraft from any of its members, and foster the ability to do so at very short notice."

Amidst growing concern over China's increasing naval activities in the region, some Asia-Pacific nations are already taking proactive measures to counter Beijing's advances. Japan has announced plans to increase its defence budget by a whopping 56%. An AUKUS agreement will lead to Australian naval forces hosting nuclear-powered submarines. The Philippines has identified four additional military bases for the use of US troops.

With the Asia Pacific accounting for 60% of the world's GDP and over half of the global population, the region will be the engine of the global economy in the coming decades. China's looming presence over the region adds another dimension. Beijing has territorial disputes with Japan, Indonesia, Brunei, Malaysia, the Philippines and Vietnam. India is on a permanent border standoff with China, having fought a full-scale war in 1962 and being embroiled in several territorial disputes over the years.

A NATO overreach to the Asia-Pacific will pose a major challenge to New Delhi's much-touted "strategic autonomy". The push to transform Quad into a security alliance focusing on China will also have the same effect.

India has resisted being drawn into rival blocs over Ukraine until now. Its refusal to take sides has brought the country under intense questioning in the West. Having moved on from its traditional non-alignment, New Delhi now boasts of "multi-alignment" as its new foreign policy mantra.

"So far, India has done an impressive job of maintaining its balancing act. Whether it can continue to do so in the years ahead is an open question," says Nirupama Rao, former Ambassador to both China and the US. A prolonged invasion "could lead India to tussle more with Washington as the United States pushes harder for neutral states to come off the sidelines," she says.

Although an Asian NATO remains a pie in the sky for now, an extended war over Ukraine will force India and the Asia-Pacific nations to bear the brunt of increasing big-power rivalry in the region.

THE PANCH PRAAN OF INDIA-US PARTNERSHIP

URVASHI PRASAD

Today, India and the US are interlinked in more ways than one. While the US is the hub of finance, critical technologies and defence for the world economy, India is emerging as its locomotive with the largest working-age population. Given the global headwinds, the Indo-US partnership in the 21st century must focus on a host of socioeconomic and strategic areas, with cutting-edge technology as the enabler. We reflect on this potential across five key sectors.

Both countries have a long history of cooperation in the health sector, including successful joint vaccine development during the pandemic. Three areas would be critical for collaboration: vaccine development, drugs and diagnostics, and health tech. Today, the world urgently needs an adult vaccine for tuberculosis and novel vaccines for preventing and treating cancer. India is a major supplier of medicines to the US. In the last two years, Indian manufacturers supplied around 40% of generic drugs, saving $80 billion for US consumers. While the US has made several advancements in medical diagnostics, India is looking to develop effective diagnostics for various non-communicable diseases. After the pandemic, there has been a rapid acceleration in the adoption of AI, blockchain and telemedicine in India's health sector. The US can benefit from India vis-à-vis disease surveillance and early-warning systems, while India can gain from the US' innovative approaches in training health professionals, especially those which leverage technology.

Both share the common goal of deploying clean energy at scale and realising climate mitigation targets. The US-India Strategic Clean Energy Partnership promotes energy access and affordability while supporting sustainable economic growth and just energy transitions. While the US government has committed to reaching net zero emissions by 2050, India has committed to net zero by 2070, with an intermediate target of meeting 50% of its energy requirements from renewable sources by 2030. Given the different growth trajectories and complementarities of both nations, there is great potential for technological and research collaboration in clean energy and mitigation of climate change challenges, particularly after the Inflation Reduction (IRA) Act, 2022, by the US, which proposes $394 billion of investment in energy and climate funding. There are prospects for collaboration in exploring novel technologies to advance emerging fuels, electrification and decarbonisation of end-use sectors, energy storage, joint R&D on smart grids, small modular reactors, and carbon capture, utilisation and storage (CCUS).

Science and technology cooperation has been a critical aspect of the strategic partnership. In 2000, both governments concurred to establish the Indo-US Science and Technology Forum. In the subsequent two decades, India's digital transformation rapidly accelerated through the creation of large-scale public digital infrastructure. The expansion of deep tech is being driven by enhanced convergence of technology, permeation of cloud computing, increased capacity and reduced cost of computing. The global deep tech market, dominated by North America, was valued at $518 million in 2022. Areas including cybersecurity, semiconductors, AI, IoT, data science, quantum technology, machine learning and its applications through agritech, biotech and cleantech are rapidly advancing. For strategic, geopolitical and commercial reasons, deep tech is an emerging growth opportunity for India. Estimates suggest that India's deep tech market will grow at a CAGR of 23.1% in the coming years. This calls for increased American investment in research in Indian universities that have developed a reputation for low-cost, high-output work.

Entrepreneurs in the India-US tech corridor are uniquely positioned to leverage the best from both ecosystems and transform promising ideas into successful global enterprises

The US remains the largest startup ecosystem in the world, with over 600 unicorns. In the last five years, India has become the third-largest, with over 100 unicorns, predominantly tech-empowered.

Early-stage ($5.9 billion) and seed-stage ($1.2 billion) investments in India's tech startups grew by 25–35% in 2022 compared to the previous year. Entrepreneurs in the India-US tech corridor are uniquely positioned to leverage the best from both ecosystems and transform promising ideas into successful global enterprises. With eased movement across borders and cultures, more young companies will be able to make their presence felt in both countries. For Indian entrepreneurs, working with the US will improve access to capital markets and world-class talent, equipping them to create products/services for global markets. Like the US, integrating higher education with entrepreneurship can significantly accentuate India's economic growth during the Amrit Kaal while creating jobs.

The US is India's largest trading partner, with a total bilateral trade of $128.55 billion. Though the US is India's second-largest equity investor, FDI outflows to the USA have been more than FDI inflows into India, making India a net positive FDI investor in the US economy. Given the economies' sizes and prospective opportunities, there is tremendous potential to enhance bilateral trade and investment relations. The experiences of large US-based corporations in India, enabled by big-ticket reforms like the PLI Scheme and consistent improvement in Ease of Doing Business, indicate the phenomenal potential of making India one of the largest consumer markets in the world. Greater FDI in India would not only lead to mutual financial benefits but also play an important role in livelihood creation through employment and entrepreneurship opportunities for Indian youth, the largest youth cohort in the world.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to the US is expected to reaffirm and strengthen the economic and strategic partnership between the two nations. This is the time to maximise collaborative growth avenues to build defence, resilient supply chains, and a STEAM-qualified workforce.

Adam Smith

Ref: Adam Smith's relevance far from fading away (June 21). The writers have objectively presented both sides of Adam Smith's economic theories. That he was a versatile writer on different subjects besides his iconic Wealth of Nations is admirable. Since no economic theory can be of eternal relevance, he can't be faulted for not mentioning the role of women in the political economy. Wisdom lies in retaining the best in the works of yore and combining it with the best in the present.

Australian prowess

Chasing a target of 281, Australia won the first Ashes test by two wickets. The batters in the fourth innings doggedly batted unlike in the previous innings. Their calm and cool attitude ensured victory. Our so-called great players should learn a lot from Australian batters. No doubt they are the world champions.

India's role

Apropos of PM Modi: India deserves bigger global role (June 21). Yes, there is no doubt India deserves a bigger role. The world today is more interconnected and interdependent than ever before. To create resilience, there should be more diversification in supply chains. We, as Indians, will do whatever it takes and support all genuine efforts to bring an end to the conflict and ensure enduring peace and stability.

Kerala education

There is no doubt that the fake certificate issue in Kerala universities was done with political backing. For this reason, the time has come to ban student organisations working under the auspices of politics. If all the political parties do not act with one mind in this regard, the future of our children will be in jeopardy. They will not be able to study in Kerala.

Opposition parties always find fault with any decision taken by the Modi government. The government has announced the Gandhi Peace Prize 2021 for Gita Press. Since it is associated with Hinduism, opposition parties, particularly the Congress, have been critical of the government.

Recalling the pre-March 24, 1940 Idea of India

WHY did Narendra Modi choose to recall the August 14-15, 1947 midnight history of Sengol now? Why did he time it with the inauguration of the new Parliament building? Did he hit upon the idea to make the boycott of the parliament building inaugural worthless? Why did he choose to install the Sengol in Parliament in a pivotal position? Why did he do it on a scale and style that grabbed the nation's attention for days? Did Modi convert Rajaji's choice of a non-Brahmin Tamil Adheenam in 1947 as a political full toss in 2023 to show his respect to a non-Brahmanic ceremony in the grand opening of the new building? Did he recall the 1947 ceremony to strengthen the bridge between south and north, particularly between Tamilnadu and Delhi? When one Adheeam vested the Sengol in 1947, why did Modi invite all Tamil Adheenams to install it in 2023? For the BJP to make inroads into Tamilnadu? These and similar questions will continue to be debated.

Modi's well-thought move

But answers to such questions, important as they are, will hardly capture the deeper vision that underlies Modi's Sengol mission. He hasn't ventured into the 1947 Sengol history in a thundering show for immediate political objectives. It might shock many – but not Modi – that Pandit Nehru, who held the Sengol as the symbol of the transfer of power, himself had accepted before Jinnah demanded partition Hindu civilisational Idea of India! Nehru compromised his Hindu civilisational convictions to avoid the partition, but finally, he couldn't. But unfortunately, the compromised Idea of India Nehru had accepted to avoid partition became the current Idea of India post-Independence. Modi's Sengol strategy is a well-thought move to recall the pre-partition Hindu civilisational Idea of India, which the Sengol-bearing Nehru himself had articulated but later compromised. Modi is setting Nehru's compromised Idea of India today against Nehru's own pre-partition Hindu civilisational Idea of India. Here a forgotten part of the pre-partition history is inevitable. To start with, the disconnect between the current idea of India and the spirit of the freedom movement.

Post-Independence Indian rulers did not even attempt to reinstate the Idea of India they had sacrificed to escape the partition. For them, it was easier to extend the compromise that disconnected India from the pre-Independence spirit

Disconnected from pre-Independence spirit

No research is needed. Just a few examples will demonstrate that the post-Independence Idea of India is not the same as the pre-Independence Idea of India. Feminist scholar Stephanie Tawa Lama, describing how, in India, the feminine force represented power, said that the entire Indian freedom movement was fought in the name of a woman, Bharatmata. And yet that inspiring symbol of Mother India and 'Bharat Mata Ki Jai', the war cry of freedom fighters, turned into political liabilities post-independence. The mystic song Vande Mataram, which inspired the revolutionaries to kiss the gallows and satyagrahis to bear lathi blows and jail life, was reduced into a sectarian verse post-independence. Its core content was edited out to reduce it to a fourth of its original size.

Before Independence, all those who fought for freedom – non-violent satyagrahis or violent revolutionaries, Congressmen, communists, socialists, or Hindu Mahasabaites – were revered as freedom fighters. But post-Independence, they were all given ideological colour; on that basis, they were credited, discredited, respected, or disrespected. Even the civilisational symbols which, post-1947, ornated the calligraphic Constitution of India signed by all Constituent Assembly members — the Vedic Gurukul, the Scene of Rama's return to Ayodhya, Geethopadesa in Mahabharata, Image of Nataraja, Bhagiratha's penance and Ganga's descent, Chhatrapati Shivaji and Guru Gobind Singh – lost legitimacy in secular India. The disconnect from the freedom movement is self-evident.

Modi has obviously zeroed in on and found what has caused the disconnect. In the Sengol symbolism, Modi had seized the opportunity to reconnect his Idea of a New India to the pre-independence Hindu civilisational idea of India – articulated by none other than Nehru himself before Jinnah detonated the partition bomb in 1940. Nehru's pre-partition Idea of India was founded on Vivekananda's Idea of India.

Vivekananda's idea of India

Vivekananda was no ordinary monk. He was a patriotic Hindu monk. Many Indians would know of him. But very few would have read him. Even fewer would know he founded the freedom movement and inspired the freedom fighters. The British police often found his literature in the hands of freedom fighters and even mulled action against the Ramakrishna Math. The tallest Indian freedom fighters have said

S GURUMURTHY
Editor, Thuglak, and commentator on economic and political affairs

SECOND OF TWO-PART SERIES

that Vivekananda was their inspiration. Mahatma Gandhi said, "Reading Vivekananda has made me love the country a 'hundred fold'." For Jawaharlal Nehru, Vivekananda "was one of the great founders of the national movement, who inspired the freedom fighters." Subhash Bose described him as "the spiritual father of the modern nationalist movement". Rajaji wrote, but for him, "we would have lost our religion, not have gained our freedom; we owe everything to him". Rabindranath Tagore told fellow Indians, "if you want to know India, study Vivekananda". Maharishi Aurobindo, Subramanya Bharati and others too were inspired by him.

What was Vivekananda's idea of India? "A nation in India," he declared, "must be a union of those whose hearts beat to the same spiritual tune". Did Mahatma Gandhi and Pandit Nehru, who accepted Vivekananda as their inspiration, accept his idea of India as well? Yes, they did.

Nehru, Gandhi, Rajni Palme Dutt – Idea of India

Nehru accepted Vivekananda's Idea of India explicitly. In his celebrated Glimpses of World History [1935], Nehru wrote, "Vivekananda eloquently and forcefully preached the gospel of nationalism which was not anti-Muslim or anyone, nor was it a narrow nationalism. Nonetheless, his nationalism was Hindu nationalism, and it had its roots in Hindu religion and culture." [p507] Nehru added, "It is not easy...to draw a line between Hindu nationalism and true nationalism. The two overlap as India is the only home of Hindus, and they form a majority there.' [p720] Nehru's Idea of India, before Jinnah rooted for partition, aligned with Vivekananda's idea of Hindu nationalism. How many Congressmen, Rahul Gandhi included, would have known this?

But what was Gandhi's Idea of India? Most Indians wouldn't have even heard of Gandhi's short book Hind Swaraj [1909] - regarded as his Bible – which he stood by even in 1940. It contained an imaginary dialogue between Gandhi, the Editor, and Gandhi, the reader. To a question by the Reader Gandhi, was it not the British who made India into one nation through post offices and railways, Editor Gandhi replied, "We were already one nation, and that was why the British could establish one government. Gandhi admitted that we had differences. But, 'Our leading men', he wrote, 'travelled throughout India; learned one another's languages; there was no aloofness between them.' 'What could be the intent of our farsighted ancestors who established Setubandha (Rameshwar) in the South, Jagannath in the East, and Hardwar in the North as places of pilgrimage,' Gandhi asked, and replied, 'They were no fools. They knew that God could be worshipped just as well at home. They had the Ganges in their own homes. They saw that India was one undivided land so made by nature and argued that it must be one nation. They established holy places in various parts of India and fired the people with an idea of nationality in a manner unknown in other parts of the world. And we Indians are one as no two Englishmen are".

Both Gandhi and Nehru had almost the same Idea of India. – Nehru's was religio-cultural, and Gandhi's was wholly religious.

A Marxist, Rajni Palme Dutt, who founded the Communist party in England also ideated India from the Hindu civilisational perspective. Rebutting the colonialists' claim that their education gave Indians the spirit of freedom, Dutt wrote in his famous work, "India Today" [1940], "If the Indian bourgeoisie had been educated only in Sanskrit Vedas, in monastic seclusion from every other current of thought, they would have assuredly found in the Sanskrit Vedas the inspiring principles and slogans for their struggle" for freedom. A communist for whom looking at the past for the future would be abhorrent, argued that the Hindu Vedas would inspire freedom struggle. Even in the revised edition of his book in 1973, he did not change that narrative.

Modi, who was often accused of changing the Idea of India has now got the accusers on the wrong foot. Those who have been accusing Modi of changing the Idea of India are the ones who changed the Hindu civilisational Idea of India common to both Gandhi and Nehru

For Gandhi, Nehru, or Rajni Palme Dutt, the Idea of India was rooted in Hindu civilisation.

Point of disconnect – March 24, 1940

That was the national consensus on the Idea of India till 1940. What then disconnected the post-Independent idea of India from the Idea of India common to Gandhi, Nehru, and Dutt? The short answer is – Jinnah's Partition resolution of March 24, 1940 that India be divided on religious lines. At once, the Congress leadership dropped the Hindu civilisational Idea of India like a hot potato – in a desperate bid to avoid partition, which finally they could not. They merely ended up compromising on the pre-partition Idea of India, which inspired the freedom movement. Post-Independence Indian rulers did not even attempt to reinstate the Idea of India they had sacrificed to escape the partition. For them, it was easier to extend the compromise that disconnected India from the pre-independence spirit.

The reconnect

Modi, who was often accused of changing the Idea of India, has now got the accusers on the wrong foot. Those who have been accusing Modi of changing the Idea of India are the ones who changed the Hindu civilisational Idea of India common to both Gandhi and Nehru. Looking to reconnect contemporary India to the pre-partition Idea of India, Modi saw the Sengol ceremony of 1947 as a golden opportunity. He saw the Sengol as a symbol to reconnect with the Hindu civilisational India that Pundit Nehru himself was comfortable with before partition. The picture of Nehru holding the Hindu Sengol icon, Modi thought, is the surest way to reconnect contemporary India to India before March 24, 1940.

Modi's Sengol mission is no short-term project. As he pushes his mission forward, the nation will witness an explosive debate on the Idea of India – that is long overdue.

Terrorism divides, tourism unites: PM at G20

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

PM Narendra Modi virtually addresses the G20 tourism ministers' meet in Goa | PTI

TOURISM has the potential to unite people and create a harmonious society, said Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday.

"It is said that terrorism divides but tourism unites. Indeed, tourism has the potential to unite people from all walks of life, creating a harmonious society. I hope that your deliberations and the 'Goa Roadmap' would multiply our collective efforts to realise tourism's transformative power. The motto of India's G20 Presidency, 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam — One Earth, One Family, One Future', can itself be a motto for global tourism," Modi said, addressing the meeting of G20 tourism ministers held in Goa through a video message.

He also appreciated the efforts for creating a G20 dashboard on best industry practices. "I am happy to note that a G20 tourism dashboard is being developed in partnership with the United Nations World Tourism Organisation. It will bring together best practices, case studies and inspiring stories. It will be a first-of-its-kind platform and will be your enduring legacy," he said.

The PM also invoked the spirit of 'Incredible India'. He urged the dignitaries to take some time from their talks and explore the beauty and the spiritual side of Goa, since tourism ministers rarely get a chance to be tourists themselves though they handle a sector worth over two trillion dollars globally.

He said that India's approach to tourism is based on the ancient Sanskrit verse 'Atithi Devo Bhavah' (Guest is God).

The PM underlined that India's efforts in the tourism sector are centred on preserving its rich heritage while creating a world-class infrastructure for tourism. Noting that India attracts pilgrims of every major religion of the world, he emphasized the development of spiritual tourism as one of the focus areas. He informed that the infrastructure upgrade in Varanasi has led to a tenfold increase in pilgrims, taking the number to 70 million today.

'Tourism must benefit public & private sectors'

Union culture minister G Kishan Reddy on Wednesday said that tourism should become an investment magnet for both the private and public sectors and there is a need to innovate, explore new areas and craft new strategies towards this. Reddy, speaking at an event in Goa as part of the fourth G20 tourism working group meeting, said the private sector has a critical role to play in all the five priority areas of green tourism, digitalisation, skills, MSMEs and destinations.

Centre reviews health preparedness in 7 states as heatwave death toll up

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AMID the intensifying heatwave leading to deaths and hospitalisations in several states, Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya on Wednesday chaired a high-level meeting with representatives of seven affected states and reviewed public health preparedness.

At the virtual meeting, the states were directed to share data on heatwave, including the number of death, for better assessment of the situation. They were also asked to implement the State Action Plans at the ground level, along with issuing timely warnings to people.

The meeting with the health ministers and officials of the seven states — which included Uttar Pradesh and Bihar, the worst affected in terms of death and hospitalisation — came a day after the health minister dispatched a Central team to these states.

The other states whose representatives attended the meeting were Odisha, Jharkhand, Andhra Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Telangana.

Post the meeting, the health minister tweeted that he had a "fruitful meeting" with health ministers and senior officers of seven states affected by heat waves, along with Minister of State for Home Affairs Nityanand Rai. "Highlighted the importance of joint efforts between Centre and states for effective management of any disaster, including severe heatwaves. With coordinated actions, we can surely ensure there are no deaths due to heat waves," Mandaviya tweeted.

He also urged the states to implement the State Action Plans at the ground level with a timely warning to the people, and ensure preventive preparedness to reduce the severe impact of heat waves, adding that "effective disaster response and management is a collaborative work."

The states were asked to ensure preparedness of healthcare facilities and availability of essential medicines and logistics. Mandaviya said heat wave alerts from the Indian Metrological Department are being amplified and shared with all states daily.

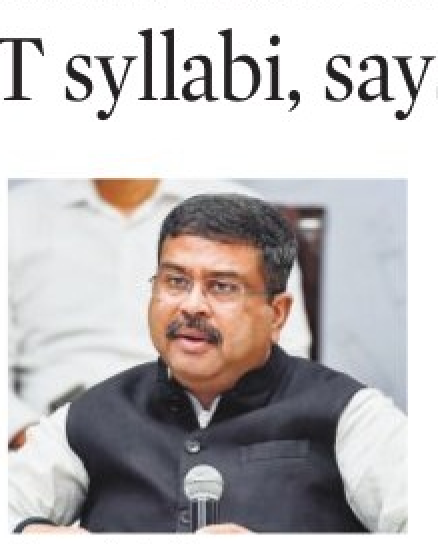
Darwin, periodic table not removed from NCERT syllabi, says Pradhan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Pune



Dharmendra Pradhan

IN A bid to end the controversy surrounding the deletion of Charles Darwin's theory of evolution from NCERT textbooks, Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Tuesday said that "nothing of this sort has happened".

"A discussion is going on these days that Darwin's theory of evolution has been removed from science books by the NCERT (National Council of Educational Research and Training) and the periodic table has been left out, but I would like to state here publicly that nothing of this sort has happened," said Pradhan, who is in Pune to attend the fourth Education Working Group (EdWG) meeting of G20.

After the controversy erupted, the minister said that he had sought details from the NCERT, an autonomous body that develops syllabi and prepares textbooks.

"According to them, experts had advised that during COVID-19, some repetitive parts could be reduced and later brought back. So, the contents in Classes 8 and 9 are unchanged. In the Class 10 book, some portions related to the evolution theory were omitted last year, but it remains unchanged in Classes 11 and 12," the minister said.

However, Pradhan said, there is validity to the view that students who would not study science after Class 10 would miss out on some specific subjects related to Darwin's theory.

"The periodic table is taught in Class 9 and is also being taught in Classes 11 and 12. As per the NCERT, one or two examples (related to the theory of evolution) were omitted. But I would like to assure you that the National Education Policy is being implemented, and as per that policy, new textbooks are being prepared," he said.

A furore had erupted after it appeared that NCERT had removed Darwin's theory and periodic table from the Class 10 textbook. Several scientists and educators had written an open letter, raising concerns on the deletion of the topics.

Bengaluru boys' innovation wins praise at G20 meet

Shayyan Ahmad and Swaminathan Vivekanand at the G20 exhibition | EXPRESS

TWO Bengaluru boys, who have developed mobile apps that help find solutions to farmers' woes and combat hunger, were a major draw at an exhibition held on the sidelines of the fourth Education Working Group meeting (EdWG) of G20 in Pune.

Thirteen-year-old Shayyan Ahmad and 15-year-old Swaminathan Vivekanand, students at DPS Bangalore North, confidently explained their innovations to hundreds of school children, teachers, parents and G20 delegates.

For Ahmad, a student of Class 8, the meaning of 'hunger' changed when he saw on a family outing the amount of food being wasted and how street children ravenously eat the dumped food. His app 'Hunger Helpline' seeks to address the dual challenge of food waste and inadequate access to nutrition.

Vivekanand, a Class 10 student in the same school, created the mobile app 'Livest: Empowering Farmers.' Concerned about the plight of farmers, he developed the app to serve as an all-encompassing farmer companion, providing invaluable assistance across every facet of farming, from sowing to marketing and export.

Leveraging advanced image recognition and machine learning algorithms, Livest offers flaw detection capabilities, enabling farmers to identify diseases, pests and nutrient deficiencies in their crops accurately. By simply capturing images of their plants, farmers can receive comprehensive analyses and diagnoses from the app.

Speaking with this newspaper, Ahmad said that at one end there is wastage of food, while on the other, there is starvation. "I wanted a simple, user-friendly solution. By installing the app and entering basic information, users can arrange to collect surplus food from their households."

He also uses Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Data Science to map the areas with maximum demand and supply, enabling him to allocate his resources judiciously and effectively based on the areas where the food donors are available in whole numbers. "I feel good that my work was appreciated and that I could help the world in some way," said Ahmad, who is also leading a team working on the design of the F1 car.

P Renuka, who accompanied the boys to Pune, said that everyone from school students to education ministry officials to G20 delegates were impressed by the apps of the two young innovators. "We are very proud of them. They are an inspiration for others. They have made the DPS schools and Bengaluru very proud," she said.

Covid centre scam: ED raid on bizman close to Uddhav, Raut

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Wednesday conducted searches at 15 locations in Mumbai in connection with a money-laundering case related to alleged Covid centres scam against businessman Sujit Patkar, believed to be a close aide of Shiv Sena (UBT) Uddhav Thackeray, his son Aditya Thackeray and MP Sanjay Raut, said an official.

The ED carried out searches at premises of Suraj Chavan, secretary of Yuva Shiv Sena (UBT) and close aide of Aditya Thackeray. Besides, the raids were underway on the premises of IAS Sanjeev Jaiswal whose role is also being scrutinised in allotment of Jumbo Covid centres during the pandemic.

According to the complaint, Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) had allotted the Covid centre development contract to Sujit Patkar and his partners in Mumbai and Pune, for which Patkar allegedly forged documents. Even without prior experience in running the hospitals, the contracts were given to them.

During the ED raids at Patkar's home, officials found a document of agreement, which Patkar had signed with the BMC, for managing Covid field hospitals. For this, Patkar had also received ₹38 crore into his company's account.

It was alleged that after receiving the BMC contract through his unregistered company, Patkar handed over the work to a doctor and signed an agreement for managing the field hospitals on the company's name.

Amey Ghole, Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde-led Shiv Sena leader said that earlier when he was in Shiv Sena (UBT) that he complained to Suraj Chavan who is a clerk but manages everything in the party.

Oppn rejects delimitation plans in Assam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

THE Election Commission of India (ECI) has stirred a hornet's nest with its draft proposals for the realignment of Lok Sabha and Assembly constituencies in Assam. The opposition parties criticised the Commission for allegedly favouring the ruling BJP.

The Commission published the draft proposals on Tuesday based on 2001 Census figures. It kept the number of constituencies unchanged but increased the number of Assembly seats reserved for Schedule Tribes (ST) and Scheduled Castes (SC). The seats increased from 16 to 19 for STs and eight to nine for SCs. The state has 126 Assembly and 14 Parliamentary seats respectively.

Assam Congress chief Bhupen Kumar Borah suspected a conspiracy behind the publication of the draft proposals as the Supreme Court is hearing the matter.

"The final date of hearing on the delimitation exercise in the Supreme Court has been fixed on July 25. We are surprised that the EC did not wait for the court's judgement," Borah said. "We suspect that the EC is favouring the BJP," he further said.

HC: Deploy over 82k central force personnel for rural polls

Says if poll panel chief fails to comply with the order, he should quit

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

A day after suffering a setback in the Supreme Court, the State Election Commission (SEC) faced another jolt as the Calcutta High Court on Wednesday ordered it to deploy more than 82,000 central armed paramilitary forces (CAPF) personnel for the upcoming rural polls in West Bengal.

A division bench, presided by chief justice T S Sivagnanam, directed the SEC to put in a requisition for the central force within 24 hours.

It was in 2013 when Bengal rural polls were held last time under the watch of CAPF, following a face-off between the state government and then SEC headed by Mira Pandey. She was in favour of conducting the panchayat elections involving central force, but the state government moved the court challenging the state poll panel decision which was not entertained.

Noting that the number of districts in Bengal has increased from 17 in 2013 to 22 now and also the number of electorates has increased in the last 10 years, the high court asked the poll panel to deploy 82,000 or more than that of CAPF personnel.

While passing the verdict specifying the volume of CAPF to be engaged in the rural polls, the division bench also observed that if the state election commissioner Rajeeva Sinha fails to comply with the court's order, he should quit.

On Tuesday, the apex court upheld the Calcutta High Court's order to deploy CAPF in all the districts across Bengal for the upcoming rural polls after the state poll panel submitted a petition challenging the lower court's verdict.

Shortly after the apex court's verdict, the SEC requisitioned for 22 companies of CAPF for 22 districts for the rural polls which will be held for 73,897 seats comprising 63,239-gram panchayats, 9,730 panchayat samities and 928 zillaparishad seats.

There are 61,636 polling booths where Bengal's 5.67 crore electorates will exercise their franchise in the rural polls. The opposition parties raised question on the intent of the poll panel alleging how only 22 companies of CAPF comprising 2,200 personnel will conduct the rural polls.

Raipur gears up for G20 meeting in September

Raipur, to host the fourth financial work group of G20 summit in September this year, has begun reviewing action plans to prepare for the mega event. The leaders from 20 countries are likely to attend. For the state, such an occasion assumes significance owing to the promising impact on the economy as the event will offer a good opportunity to showcase the state and build its image globally. The Raipur Municipal Corporation has taken the onus to spruce up the city and beautify the routes from airport to main Telibandha, the major areas like Rajbhawan, CM House and Nava Raipur.

Grievance redressal scheme gets attention

As an offshoot of the state's good governance move and reassurance to the citizens, the "Samadhan Tuar Dwar" gathered public attention in Balod district when more than 50 thousand pleas of villagers were resolved during a two-month long campaign. The issues and challenges faced by the people were attended at the grassroots gram panchayats in camps and resolved after careful examination of applications by the officials. Citizen engagement creates awareness and builds trust but the results were seen when the Balod administration prudent planned to go beyond just bringing the government schemes at the doorstep.

VHP conference to shape future agenda

In poll-bound Chhattisgarh, after the all-India coordination meeting of Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh-linked bodies in Raipur last year, the right wing organisation Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP) is set to organise a five-day national meet in the capital from June 22. Besides the organisation's upcoming major programmes, the gathering of seers, sadhus, senior leaders will give final shape to the agenda of the meetings and decide the future action plan. According to the sources familiar with the development, there will also be discourse keeping the upcoming Assembly elections in mind. Interactive sessions with the prominent citizens and intellectuals are also planned.

Relieve me from LoP post, Ajit to Pawar

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

Senior NCP leader Ajit Pawar on Wednesday requested NCP chief Sharad Pawar to relieve him of the responsibilities of Leader of Opposition and he should be entrusted with a new responsibility in the party.

Celebrating the NCP's annual day, Pawar junior offered to step down from the post of Leader of Opposition. "I should be given a party post. I will give justice to any post in the party," he said.

Sources said that Pawar and NCP state president Jayant Patil do not see eye to eye. 'NCP is divided into two groups – one headed by Jayant Patil and blessed by top leadership of NCP, while another group is headed by Pawar junior.

Patil has been president of NCP for the last five years. As per party norms, every three years a new president is appointed. But Patil continues to enjoy his post in the party.

Ajit Pawar is either eyeing this state party president post or wants to appoint a close aide. However, NCP chief Sharad Pawar is yet to take decisions over it, said the source requesting anonymity. Another source party said the NCP is not happy with Pawar junior and his performance as a LoP because of his understanding with the ruling party leaders.

3 injured as bomb-laden SUV explodes in Manipur

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

THREE people, including two minors, were injured when a suspected improvised explosive device planted inside an SUV exploded in restive Manipur on Wednesday evening.

The explosion occurred at around 7.15 pm at a place between Moirang and Kwakta in the Bishnupur district of the Imphal valley.

Official sources said the injured, who are aged 18, 7 and 5 years, were rushed to a local hospital.

Later, one of them, who is in critical condition, was shifted to a hospital in the state capital Imphal

Eyewitnesses said they saw a driver park the car (a Scorpio) on a culvert and leave the site.

Kwakta is a Muslim-majority place. The border of the Kuki-majority Churachandpur district is less than five kilometres away.

The explosion occurred a day after two incidents of "speculative" firing were reported – one from a place two km north of Sugnu bordering Kakching and Churachandpur districts, and another from Kangchup on the border of Kangpokpi and Imphal West districts. There were no reports of casualties.

Meanwhile, Army personnel demolished bunkers erected by the miscreants at Leimakhong near the border of Kangpokpi and Imphal East districts.

Mind your language, or else will take legal action: Guv to Mann

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

PUNJAB Governor Banwarilal Purohit on Wednesday warned Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann of legal action if he uses derogatory language against him outside the assembly even as inside the House the CM enjoys legal protection.

The Governor's warning came a day after Mann in the assembly called Purohit a 'velha baitha' (someone who had nothing productive to do) who kept sending him "love letters".

A visibly upset Purohit said he agreed with the government on using the word 'My Government' in his speech in the state assembly and bulldozed the Opposition, still they accused him of not using this word.

Speaking to reporters at Raj Bhawan, he said: "They should thank me, instead they are accusing. As the Chief Minister objected, I immediately agreed with him. They should not mete out this kind of treatment to a governor.'' He added he also has to maintain the dignity of his office.

Attacking Mann over the "kind of language" used against him, Purohit said that he cannot ever have imagined that a CM will react like this. "He should have maintained his dignity and not ridiculed me in the assembly," he said.

"They call my office letters as love letters. The CM mocked at me in the assembly by saying that governor is writing so many love letters. These were the words of a CM? The Governor has the right to seek information from the CM regarding the affairs of the state. I have not asked for his personal details. He has to reply to all of my letters as per the Constitution as he has to protect it (Constitution) and these are also the orders of Supreme Court order. I cannot go against the Constitution to make someone happy,'' he said.

J&K HC complex: 38k trees to be cut

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

Construction has begun at the new judicial complex in Raika-Bahu forest

CLIMATE activists have raised an alarm over the construction of the new Jammu & Kashmir High Court complex in Raika-Bahu forest area of Jammu for which over 38,000 trees would be felled. The Raika-Bahu Forest area, which is spread over an area of 19 sq kms of land, lies to the East of Jammu.

The construction work on the new judicial complex has begun.

The trees are being felled and the ground is being leveled after no objection certificate (NOC) from the J&K Wildlife Department, Forest Department and other concerned departments. The new High Court complex will have 35 court rooms with space for expansion up to 70 court rooms. It will also have chambers for 1,000 lawyers with space for further expansion.

The climate activists of Jammu under the banner of Climate Front Jammu are opposing the construction in the forest land and staged a protest against the construction on Wednesday.

A woman climate activist said, "With 38,000 trees to be cut for construction of high court complex, hundreds of birds and animals will lose their habitat. The Raika forest, which is called 'lungs of Jammu', is home to over 150 species of plants and animals. If we cut the 'lungs of Jammu' and go for concretisation then we don't know what our future will be. It will lead to a climate crisis."

In 2019, J&K government had approved transfer of 40 hectares of Rakia forest land for construction of the High Court complex in Jammu.

The HC is presently located at Janipur area.

Another climate activist said building the high court complex on 800 kanals of forest land and cutting 38,000 trees will lead to an increase in incidents of man-animal conflict. "We have created a zoo in Jammu, where animals are kept in cages while we have wild animals living in the Raika forest and now we are cutting the forests and destroying their habitat," he said.

POSSIBLE TO LOCATE TITAN SUB IF IT HAS NOT IMPLODED, SAYS EXPERT

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THERE are still some possibilities to locate the Titan tourist submersible "if there's no mechanical failure and it has not imploded", said top ocean scientist Dr GA Ramdass, director, National Institute of Ocean Technology (NIOT), Chennai. NIOT is an autonomous institute under the Ministry of Earth Sciences (MoES).

Speaking exclusively to TNIE, Ramdass said the location of the sub is known from the point of its launch. "Submarines travel at 3 knots (nautical miles) per hour. In the sea, radars don't work. Multi-beam sonar fitted to ships, remotely operated underwater vehicles (RoVs) that can go up to 5,000 metres into the ocean can search for the sub after making an intelligent guess of the lost craft's location," he said.

He added that failure to locate the submarine could be because of loss of communication, which may be due to an accident or electrical or electronic failure. "There is no electromagnetic wave communication in the ocean over long ranges. We use acoustic communication, which is not foolproof. It is slower in comparison to electromagnetic wave communication, and has limited bandwidth. Sound can refract based on the density variation in the sea, and go away from the target. A Canadian aircraft on the rescue mission has heard some banging sounds from the vicinity of the Titan's last known location, but is unable to track the source of sound," said the oceanographer.

With a limited supply of oxygen, the Titan crew is racing against time. "Besides limited oxygen supply, we do not know the efficiency of the CO2 (carbon dioxide) scrubbing system inside the submarine. Subs use canisters fitted with potassium or lithium hydroxide to remove CO2 from the atmosphere through devices called 'scrubbers'. Excess of CO2 will suffocate the inmates," he said. Ramdass explained that submarines take large amounts of water to go down into the ocean. "To come up, they drop expendable weights made of lead, iron or fine granules of metal. The inability of the sub to come up may be either because it is either stuck in underwater debris, or an accident leading to mechanical, electrical and electronic failure," added Ramdass.

A massive search operation is under way to find the OceanGate Expeditions' submersible with five people – the CEO and founder of OceanGate Expeditions Stockton Rush, British billionaire and explorer Hamish Harding, renowned French diver Paul-Henri Nargeolet and UK-based Pakistani businessman Shahzada Dawood and his 19-year-old son Suleman -- on board.

The Titan is equipped with four days of oxygen supply. Harding had collaborated with India to bring eight wild cheetahs from Namibia in September 2022. He had flown on one of his aircrafts from Namibia to Kuno National Park in Madhya Pradesh, where the cheetahs were relocated. An aviation expert, Harding had earlier spent some time in Bengaluru.

Allies pledge billions for Ukraine, seek investment

LONDON

Rishi Sunak applauds as Volodymyr Zelenskyy appears on the screen at the opening session of the Ukraine Recovery Conference in London on Wednesday | AP

UKRAINE'S allies pledged several billion dollars in non-military aid on Wednesday to rebuild its war-ravaged infrastructure, fight corruption and help pave the country's road to membership in the European Union.

Stressing the vast scale of the task, diplomats and political leaders at the Ukraine Recovery Conference in London urged private-sector firms to invest and revive the nation's economy. Delegates from more than 60 countries attended the conference.

The World Bank has estimated the cost of the reconstruction at more than $400 billion. Politicians from Europe and the United States vowed that Russia would one day be made to pay for the destruction—though officials acknowledged that day is some way off.

Secretary of State Antony Blinken said the United States would give more than $1.3 billion in new aid, including more than $500 million to restore and improve Ukraine's battered energy grid.

European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen announced $55 billion in support through 2027, while Britain pledged $305 million in aid and $3.8 billion in World Bank loan guarantees for Ukraine. Germany announced a further $416 million in humanitarian aid.

Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelenskyy, who addressed delegates by video, said his country needed action, not just pledges. "We must move from vision to agreements and from agreements to real projects," Zelenskyy said.

The conference aims to harness private-sector investment. UK PM Rishi Sunak said BT, Virgin, Philips and Hyundai Engineering are among more than 400 firms from 38 countries that have committed to invest in Ukraine.

Sunak said Ukraine is a "huge investment opportunity" despite the mounting destruction from Russian attacks. "In fact, the war has only proved how much Ukraine has to offer," Sunak said.

Sunak called for investment in technology and green energy to help build "a financially stronger, technologically advanced Ukraine."

The UK also hopes the conference will make progress on setting up wartime risk insurance for firms investing in Ukraine, though it's unclear how advanced plans are. AP

EU agrees on a 11th package of sanctions against Russia

BRUSSELS

THE EU on Wednesday agreed an 11th package of sanctions against Russia. Much work in the latest batch of sanctions has involved closing loopholes so that goods vital to Putin's war effort don't get through via nations that trade with the EU and have maintained a business-as-usual relationship with Moscow.

European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen, said the new package will "deal a further blow to Putin's war machine with tightened export restrictions, targeting entities supporting the Kremlin." It is the first time that plans have been announced to target trade via other countries, apart from sanctions against Iranians alleged to be supplying drones to Russia. It also prohibits the transit via Russia of products and technologies which might help boost its defense and security sector. The new package will also target 71 extra persons and 33 entities in relation with the illegal deportation of Ukrainian children to Russia. Those include senior Russian military officers, figures linked to the Wagner mercenary group, those involved in mobilising Russian forces.

Also included is the prohibition to access to ports in the EU by vessels engaged in ship-to-ship transfers when there is a suspicion that a boat is not respecting the ban on importing seaborne Russian crude oil into the bloc. The package also extends the suspension of the broadcasting licenses in the EU of five Russian media outlets under state control. Agencies

China slams Biden's comments as 'irresponsible'

BEIJING

CHINA on Wednesday called comments by US President Joe Biden referring to Chinese leader Xi Jinping as a dictator "extremely absurd and irresponsible," as a new rift threatened to upset tentative efforts to stabilize the relationship between the two countries.

The clash of words comes just over a day after Secretary of State Antony Blinken concluded a visit to Beijing that sought to break the ice in a relationship that has hit a historical low. While both sides saw those talks as productive, they did not result in any significant breakthroughs beyond an agreement to return to a broad agenda for cooperation and competition.

Foreign Ministry spokesperson Mao Ning, responding to a question about Biden's remarks, said the comments at a fundraiser in California "go totally against facts and seriously violate diplomatic protocol, and severely infringe on China's political dignity." "It is a blatant political provocation. China expresses strong dissatisfaction and opposition," Mao said at a daily briefing. "The US remarks are extremely absurd and irresponsible," Mao said.

Mao reiterated China's contention that the balloon was for meteorological research and had been accidentally blown off course.

Biden has previously used the term dictator to refer to Russian President Vladimir Putin. Agencies

Chinese company ZTE may make a comeback in India

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

CHINESE telecom gear maker ZTE may make a comeback in India, according to industry insiders in the know of the matter.

They said the US has cleared the Chinese tech giant on safety issues, and soon the company will start taking orders there.

"The US has given security clearance to ZTE, and there are chances it may get clearance from the Indian government too," said an industry source.

After the Galwan valley clash in 2020, the government announced a national security directive on telecom sector. In 2021, the government mandated all telecom service providers to connect to their networks only those new devices that are designated as 'trusted products' from 'trusted sources'. The approval needs to come from the National Cyber Security Coordinator.

Chinese telecom gear makers -- Huawei and ZTE -- are yet to get that tag of trusted sources. It means Indian telecom companies Reliance Jio and Bharti Airtel have to solely depend on companies like Ericsson, Nokia, and Samsung for 5G gear.

On Huawei, the source said that the company has not submitted its paper neither in the US nor in India. India was the first country, which took the lead in banning Chinese equipment makers. It came up with trusted source rules, and actually it (using Chinese telecom gear) stopped. Later, the other countries followed.

However, industry sources told this newspaper that there is no use of banning ZTE or Huawei products if they come through unlicensed routes. "Internet service providers are using them to provide Wi-Fi service. The government has only banned networking gears, not mobile phones," said sources.

It is believed that Huawei and ZTE continue to engage with Indian telecom operators.

As per the reports, Vodafone Idea recently granted ZTE a new order worth approximately ₹230 crore for optical transmission equipment in Gujarat, Maharashtra, and Madhya Pradesh-Chhattisgarh (MP-CG) as part of network upgrades. It is believed that Huawei and ZTE continue to engage with Indian telecom operators. The speculation of their re-entry grew after Shein, a Chinese fashion major made a comeback three years after it was forced to shut its India business. The company is coming through a joint venture with Reliance Industries.

Monitoring Sebi order against Chandra, Goenka 'seriously': Sony

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

IN its first reaction after Sebi's order against Essel Group Chairman Subhash Chandra and his son Punit Goenka, Sony Pictures Entertainment said on Wednesday it took the order of the regulator very seriously and would continue to monitor developments, which might affect the merger deal.

Zee and an Indian unit of Japan's Sony Group announced a merger deal in 2021 to create a $10 billion TV enterprise, with Goenka set to become the merged entity's managing director and CEO.

"There have been several erroneous press reports recently speculating about the future of Zee's planned merger with SPNI (Sony Pictures Networks India) following Sebi's interim order against Chandra and Goenka. We take seriously the Sebi interim order and will continue to monitor developments that may affect the deal," Sony Pictures Entertainment statement said on Wednesday.

In its interim order on June 12, the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) barred Chandra and Goenka from holding position of director or key managerial personnel in any listed company for siphoning off funds of the media firm. Both Chandra and Goenka moved SAT seeking stay on the Sebi order, citing injustice. With Sebi's recent orders, experts are expressing concerns that this might delay the merger. The US-based brokerage BofA Securities said in a recent report that Zee-Sony merger is at risk after Sebi order.

Mkt hits record high on domestic cues

Supported by favourable domestic cues, Sensex shrugs off valuation concerns and gains

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

DOMESTIC equity market surged to a fresh high on Wednesday with the BSE benchmark Sensex hitting a new all-time high, and the two indices (Sensex and Nifty) settling at their highest levels.

Supported by favourable domestic cues, the Indian market has sidelined valuation concerns and continues to gain despite weak global cues ahead of the crucial US Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell's testimony.

Powell on Wednesday said that their fight to lower inflation back to its 2% target has a long way to go, a clear indication of more rate hikes to come. In April, consumer inflation in the US came at 4.4%.

"It is purely the positive domestic fundamentals that are reflecting in the markets, which drove the Sensex to a new lifetime high and pushed Nifty closer towards breaching its previous high. While global macro headwinds still persist, both domestic and foreign investors will continue to bet big on local shares amid improving growth parameters," said Shrikant Chouhan, Head of Research (Retail), Kotak Securities.

Another trigger for the domestic market is foreign fund inflows. Foreign inflows on June 21 jumped to 13,795.52 crore and net inflow of ₹4,013.10 crore.

Both the benchmark indices have jumped 22.5% in the past one year. Nifty Midcap 100 index has surged around 40%, while Nifty Smallcap 100 index rose 35% in the last one year.

BSE Sensex touched an all-time high of 63,588 points during the early trading session, surpassing the previous high of 62,583 (touched on December 1, 2022), before closing the Wednesday session 195.45 points higher at 63,523.15, while NSE's Nifty50 rose 40.15 points to end the day at 18,856.85. The two headline indices settled at their record highs.

As the domestic market is commanding an expensive valuation compared to the peer markets, experts have advised traders to be vigilant and even said that it is the right time for them to book some profits.

"The pace of the rally has slowed down over the last few weeks however the underlying momentum is still strong. We believe that traders can lighten up their long leveraged positions and book some profits in the immediate term. But medium to long term investors must continue to hold on to their positions and use dips to buy more," said Apurva Sheth, Head of Market Perspectives & Research, SAMCO Securities.

Ola starts construction of cell factory in TN

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

OLA ELECTRIC on Wednesday started construction of its 100 GWh-capacity cell factory at Krishnagiri in Tamil Nadu.

As per the company statement, the gigafactory will be spread across 115 acres and will begin operations by early next year with an initial capacity of 5 GWh and will be expanded in phases to 100 GWh at full capacity. Upon commencement of operations, this would be India's biggest cell factory, and at full capacity, will be one of the world's largest cell manufacturing facilities, it claimed. Ola aims to localise critical elements of the EV value chain with this. Bhavish Aggarwal, founder and CEO of Ola, said, "We installed the first pillar of our gigafactory today. Our gigafactory will be a major milestone in India's electrification journey, bringing us closer to making India a global EV hub."

LIC Mutual Fund to manage, operate, and administer schemes of IDBI MF

SACHIN KUMAR @ Mumbai

LIC Mutual Fund (LICMF) will acquire all the schemes of IDBI Mutual Fund.

As per the terms of the agreement between the two fund houses, LICMF will manage, operate, and administer all of IDBIMF's schemes. Of the total 20 schemes of IDBI Mutual Fund, 10 schemes will be merged with LIC MF schemes. The Asset Under Management (AUM) of LICMF current stands at ₹19,700 crore while IDBI Mutual Fund manages assets worth ₹3,800 crore.

The acquisition is likely to be completed by the end of July after which LICMF will manage, operate, and administer all the schemes of IDBI Mutual Funds. "10 schemes of IDBI Mutual Fund will be merged with the schemes of LIC Mutual funds. The take takeover process is expected to be completed by July end" TS Ramakrishnan, Managing Director and CEO of LIC Mutual Fund told this newspaper. "The unitholders of IDBI MF have been informed and they will be given the option to exit the schemes," he added.

MUTUAL FUNDS

The unitholders of schemes opting for exit will not have to pay any exit load, according to the agreement. Schemes of the fund houses having similar features will be merged.

"This is the acquisition of schemes and not the acquisition of entity (IDBI Mutual Fund)," clarified Ramakrishnan.

IDBI Mutual Fund has sent e-mails to its unitholders explaining details of the deal.

The letter contains the details regarding the proposed change in sponsorship, trusteeship, management, and administration of the IDBIMF schemes.

IDBI Mutual Fund has sent a ballot form to unitholders to get their approval for this acquisition.

"The voting window will remain open from June 20, 2023, until July 19, 2023 (both days inclusive). All duly signed and filled-up ballot papers received by the Registrar and votes received electronically during this period will be accepted and considered, if found valid, for the purpose of determining the results of the ballot," the letter said. Each unitholder will be entitled to one vote for every unit held.

LIC Asset Management Company (AMC) will act as the asset management for the schemes of IDBI MF, while LIC TC will act as the trustee company. Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC) is the sponsor of LIC Mutual Fund and the parent entity of LIC AMC.

Akasa Air orders 4 new planes as gets ready to start international flights

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S newest airline, Akasa Air, on Wednesday ordered four additional Boeing B737 MAX planes at the ongoing Paris Air Show, taking its total order book to 76 aircraft from 72 earlier.

Besides this fresh order, the company is on track to finalise another significant three-digit aircraft order by the end of the calendar year. Of the 76 planes ordered so far by Akasa, 23 are Boeing 737-8s and 53 are high-capacity 737-8-200 aircraft.

The airline, which started flying in August 2022, has so far received 19 aircraft and the 20th plane is likely to join its fleet next month. After this, the low-cost carrier will work towards starting international operations by the end of 2023.

"Akasa Air set a benchmark in the 120-year history of global aviation by becoming the first airline to reach a fleet size of 19 aircraft in less than a year of operations," said Vinay Dube, Founder and CEO, Akasa Air.

"We are excited to add four more Boeing 737-8 to support our international expansion, taking our initial order of 72 aircraft to 76 to be delivered in the next four years. In addition to supporting our rapid domestic expansion, these airplanes allow us to take full advantage of the category leading 737-8 aircraft with its unparalleled range, as we prepare our foray into international routes," added Dube. Akasa has now crossed the milestone of operating over 900 weekly flights with a published network of 36 routes connecting 16 cities. Benefitting from the crisis at Go First, Akasa's share in the domestic market surged to 4.8% in May.

TCS inks $1.1 bn deal with UK pension scheme Nest

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

IT services firm Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) and UK's largest workplace pension scheme Nest have announced expansion of their partnership to focus on digitally transforming the scheme administration services.

TCS has signed a contract worth 840 million pounds ($1.1 bn) for an initial tenure of 10 years. As part of the partnership, TCS will help Nest transform the administration services using a future-ready, digitally enabled, omnichannel platform powered by TCS BaNCS.

"Looking forward to continuing our journey with TCS and exploring opportunities ahead of us. We have a strong foundation after many years of working together and they've proven their ability to deliver successfully for a scheme the size and complexity of Nest," said Gavin Perera-Betts, chief customer officer, Nest. "The partnership between Nest and TCS resulted in successful pension plan for the UK workforce, that is now a global benchmark on how an innovative, user-friendly, auto enrolment pension scheme should be run," said Vivekanand Ramgopal, President, BFSI Products & Platforms, TCS. Nest and TCS have worked closely since 2011 when the digital, auto-enrolment pension scheme was first launched. TCS said its BFSI Platforms is an end-to-end digital ecosystem that powers journeys of life, pensions/annuities, property/casualty, and health insurance providers.

Sebi bars 135 entities for duping investors

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) on Wednesday said it has taken action against 135 entities involved in the manipulation of share prices of five small-cap companies by circulating bulk SMSs with a 'buy' recommendation to public investors.

Sebi has restrained these entities from accessing the securities market till further directions and issued impounding orders for ₹126 crore towards wrongful gains made by them by indulging in such market manipulation. The modus operandi followed under a pre-planned scheme by the entities mainly centred around circulation of bulk SMSs with a 'buy' suggestion for the shares of the five small-cap companies, Sebi said.

No decision on govt employees' pension scheme yet; panel to meet on June 28

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE government hasn't yet taken any decision to make changes in the National Pension System (NPS), a top government source told this newspaper.

So far, the committee led by finance secretary TV Somanathan has met only three times since it was formed in the month of April. The next meeting will take place on June 28.

"The four-member panel has met only three times so far. The next meeting is scheduled for June 28. Only yesterday (Tuesday) the third meeting took place. These things take time, at least 5-6 months before arriving at any concrete decision," the source said after media reports emerged that the government will likely assure its employees a minimum pension of 40%-45% of their last drawn salary by restructuring the current market-linked pension scheme.

Meanwhile, the chairman of pension fund regulatory and development authority (PFRDA), Deepak Mohanty, who is also the member of committee, refused to comment on the reports when this newspaper tried to confirm. Besides, expenditure secretary and the PFRDA Chairman, Secretary in the Department of Personnel and Training (DoPT) and special secretary in the Department of Expenditure are also the members of the panel.

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman had set up the committee for reviewing NPS, after several non-BJP states decided to go back to the old pension scheme, which is linked to dearness allowance (DA), as it guarantees a fixed pension of 50% of an employee's last drawn salary without any contribution from own pay. In current NPS, employees have to contribute 10% of their basic salary and the government contributes 14%. The final payout depends on market returns on that corpus, which is mostly invested in government securities.

In contrast, the old pension system guarantees a fixed pension of 50% of an employee's last drawn salary, without requiring them to contribute anything during their working life.

Bopanna to end Davis Cup career in September

India's top doubles player Rohan Bopanna on Wednesday revealed that he will bring curtains down on his Davis Cup career when the country hosts Morocco in September but the Karnataka player won't be able to play his farewell match in his home state since AITA has already awarded the match to Uttar Pradesh. India are scheduled to play Morocco in a World Group II tie in September.

WFI election rescheduled, lobbying intensifies to garner votes

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

The urgent notice issued on Monday in regard to the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) election extended the last date for nomination of members to the electoral college to June 21 till 12 midnight from June 19 and it clearly stated there will be no change in other dates and election schedules.

In a rare move, the returning officer, Justice MM Kumar, former chief justice of the J&K High Court, however, on hearing representatives from five disbanded state units on Wednesday, decided to extend the election by five days. The new schedule means the WFI special general meeting and election, if needed, will be held on July 11 instead of the previously announced date of July 6. The last date for receiving the nominations for the electoral college has also been extended to June 25.

As was reported by this daily on June 20, the extension also gives yet another opportunity to state units, who have already sent the names, to rethink and nominate members for the electoral college again. The WFI has 25 affiliated state/union territory units. Each association can nominate two persons, who are members of the executive body of such unit for the purpose of constituting the electoral college. This takes the voter tally to 50.

With most of the existing units apparently in favour of sidelined president Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh, who cannot contest again, it was expected that a candidate from his camp would win the election if it happens. But that could change now.

The returning officer heard the five disbanded units — Haryana, Rajasthan, Himachal Pradesh, Telangana and Maharashtra — along with their affiliated counterparts at length on Wednesday. He is expected to take a final call on their eligibility in days to come. If these units get the voting right, it can change the equation. Besides, sources claimed that officials from the Sports Authority of India (SAI) along with officials of the Railway Sports Promotion Board (RSPB) are also in touch with the state units as now these associations can resend their nomination by June 28. This is not the first time sports ministry is taking keen interest in a federation election.

"At least three state units have been contacted by these officials. One of the state units, which was heard today, even included the name of one of their representatives for the electoral college. The RSPB is in touch with a unit each from central and eastern India in its bid to convince them to include a few of selected names," sources in the know of things told this daily. Odisha association has already sent a request to rethink its nomination a couple of days back.

As per the revised schedule, submission of nomination for election can now be submitted to the returning officer in person from June 29 to July 1. The notice of withdrawal of candidature can be submitted from July 4 to 7. The final list of contesting candidates will be prepared and displayed on July 8. The special general meeting, election (if needed) and subsequent counting of votes and declaration of results will be done on July 11.

"It will not be easy to include an outsider in the list because as per the WFI constitution, only members of the executive body of the state unit can be named in the electoral college. At least 13 state units need to support a candidate if he wishes to win the elections. The next few days will decide who will take over the WFI," signed off the sources.

Udanta Singh celebrates with Sunil Chhetri (R) after scoring the fourth goal against Pakistan on Wednesday | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

Chhetri treble, India revel

Veteran striker scores hat-trick to help team overpower Pakistan

VISHNU PRASAD @ Bengaluru

WHEN it was first announced that Pakistan would travel to India for the SAFF Championships, there was talk of the rivalry between the countries bringing some much-needed spotlight to Indian football. One All India Football Federation official, however, expressed his doubts. "It's not a rivalry. The two teams are not on the same level," he had said then.

On Wednesday, in their SAFF Championship opener at the Sree Kanteerava Stadium, the gulf between the two teams was laid bare. India won 4-0 with a hat-trick from Sunil Chhetri and a late goal from substitute Udanta Singh. That it wasn't even a particularly impressive performance reflects how far apart these teams are. They did not have to try particularly hard. The Indians hogged 70 per cent of the ball and strung together twice as many passes as their opponents.

The match was essentially over in the first fifteen minutes as two Pakistani errors put India 2-0 up. In the tenth minute, goalkeeper Saqib Hanif passed the ball to Chhetri right in front of him. The India captain was never going to miss from there. Five minutes later, the referee spotted a handball inside the Pakistan penalty area and awarded a spot-kick that was duly converted by Chhetri. If there was ever a chance that this game would be competitive, that ended right there.

Sure, there were more goals in the game. Chhetri got another in the second half, again via a penalty, after he was brought down while on a lung-bursting run that belied his age. Substitute Udanta sprinted past a tired Pakistani defence and fired home from a one-on-one situation. But the outcome of the match was never really in doubt — Pakistan never really got into the India box with the exception of a few long passes, and finished the game with zero shots on target.

Indeed, it were the non-football incidents that provided the sizable crowd at the Kanteerava their share of entertainment. Just before the halftime whistle, India coach Igor Stimac sparked a fracas when he slapped the ball out of a Pakistani player's hands while the latter attempted to take a throw-in. It was uncalled-for — the throw itself was near the halfway line and the Pakistanis posed no threat whatsoever, but the Croatian got himself sent off for the act. Maybe there's something about the Kanteerava that causes coaches from the Balkans to lose their heads!

Then, there were the two pitch invaders who made a mockery of whatever security measures had been put in place for such a potentially volatile match. That both intruders only aspired to hug Sunil Chhetri meant that the incident was laughed away by the crowd. One shudders to think of the diplomatic incident that would have been caused had one of them gone up to a Pakistani player instead. The Pakistan team, having landed in Bengaluru less than twelve hours before kick-off, looked every bit the tired, jet-lagged outfit they were expected to be. This is just their fourth match after their multi-year ban from football was overturned. The players, an assortment of local players and foreigners of Pakistani origin like Otis Khan formerly of the Manchester United academy and Easah Suliman who once was England's U19 captain, are still getting used to each other on the pitch. That showed — it was difficult to remember a spell where the visitors strung four passes together. There were times when their physicality looked a potential threat, especially their imposing centre-forward Hassan Bashir. This is a team at the very beginning of their journey and they can only get better from here.

As for India, they continued what is one of their best runs in the past two decades. This is their seventh-straight unbeaten game and six of those have been wins. Sure, much tougher opponents await in the King's Cup in September and the Asian Cup in January. Even Nepal and Kuwait in their next two games here will be a much tougher task than what the rankings might suggest. But for now, they should celebrate this. A hat-trick for the captain, a 4-0 win in an encounter that had a lot more people than usual watching, and an emphatic start to the SAFF Championships. What's not to celebrate?

Clash of ideologies means more thrill

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

DURING the last few overs of the nerve-shredding Ashes opener at Edgbaston on Tuesday, it wasn't hard to go back to the last time a Test in India went down to the wire. The India vs New Zealand at Kanpur in the winter of 2021 didn't have the same atmosphere, prestige or stake but it was important because it set the tone for Rahul Dravid's new regime. Like the first Test at Birmingham, it was also the beginning of a new WTC cycle at home.

On a seemingly slow surface which refused to crumble the way India thought it would, the visitors held out against the two Ravis, Ashwin and Jadeja, as well as Axar Patel. No 11, Ajaz Patel (2 off 23) and all-rounder, Rachin Ravindra (18 off 91), dead-batted for almost 10 overs in dying light on the last session of the final day.

With more home WTC points at stake in the 18 months since, Dravid and the management didn't want to take any more chances. With two world-class and one elite spinner in their ranks, they opted for pitches that would bite, grip, jump and turn before tea on Day One. Throw in normal subcontinental conditions and these pitches were weaponised.

Dravid alluded to this after the Indore debacle. "Sometimes, obviously with WTC points at stake, you are looking to play on, sometimes, a wicket that produces or gets results," he explained. "It can happen at times and not only in India... even across the world you are seeing that at times it's difficult to get that balance perfectly right for everyone. And that can happen, not only here but it's happened in other places as well."

The key part of that Dravid remark was 'get that balance perfectly right for everyone'. Why Bazball (a term originally coined by an England journalist) is a breath of fresh air is because the Ben Stokes-Brendon McCullum partnership have flipped the script on its head. While India and a few other nations decided the best way to get results was to give bowlers lots of help, England have gone the other way: giving their batters the chance to set the tempo. Now, this works because they are anyway going through a golden batting generation. With pitches by and large staying true (it usually doesn't go through the top soil in less than two sessions) anyway, this has given rise to Tests going deep into Day Five.

It's also why totals in excess of 250 are being chased down. In the last 12-and-a-half months alone, England have made 279, 299, 296 and 378 in the 4th innings. Australia's successful chase of 282 has to be viewed in this context. The sport has conditioned its fans to think that anything above 200 in the fourth innings/ last day is tough. However, that could well be a thing of the past in England. But does that necessarily mean the Edgbaston pitch has to be bottled and rolled out in other centres? It's true that pacers, spinners and batters all had their moment in the sun but it was a painfully slow wicket (all those played-ons weren't a surprise). Lord's (venue for the second Ashes Test) will certainly be quicker — it cannot be any slower — but it will certainly favour the batters more. "We have been clear with the groundstaff what type of wickets we want," Stokes had said a few months before the Ashes. "They have been responsive. We want flat, fast wickets. We want to score quickly."

This, they believe, is the best chance to win a home Test (or Tests anywhere as they showed on the roads of Pakistan). Over the next five weeks or so, this clash of style against Australia will continue. England will maintain their zeal while Australia, cricketing zealots, will not waver from what got them success in the first Test. If Australia can win the Ashes for the first time since 2001, will Stokes-McCullum receive a reality check to their new idealogy? If England regain the urn, will other teams change their methodology (empower batters on surfaces which aid strokeplay) in search of home wins in the WTC era?

It's why the second Test can't come soon enough.

Pat Cummins (R) led from the front to help Oz post win in first Ashes Test | AP

Australia, England docked two points each

DUBAI: Australia and England have been penalised two World Test Championship (WTC) points each while the players of the two sides were also docked 40 per cent of their match fees for maintaining slow over rates during the first Ashes Test. Australia edged out England with a thrilling two-wicket win in the opening Test at Edgbaston on Tuesday.

PCB's likely chief rejects 'hybrid model'

AGENCIES @Islamabad/New Delhi

THE likely new chairman of Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) Zaka Ashraf has rejected his predecessor Najam Sethi's much-publicised "hybrid model" for the upcoming Asia Cup, which is slated to be held in Pakistan and Sri Lanka in September. "The first point is that I had rejected the hybrid model (for Asia Cup) in the past itself - because I do not agree with it. The board of the Asian Cricket Council had decided that it should be held in Pakistan, then we should host it," Ashraf said during a press conference in the Pakistan capital on Wednesday.

Ashraf's comments could also put Pakistan's World Cup participation in a limbo and it is expected that the BCCI will also play hardball and there wouldn't be any middle ground if they back-track from what was agreed upon by members of Asian Cricket Council (ACC).

With the ACC executive body approving the hybrid model, if Ashraf doesn't change his stand, the Asia Cup could be held without Pakistan.

"The Asia Cup model has been accepted by ACC and there would be no change. Ashraf is free to say whatever he wants," an ACC board member said. Ashraf is one of the two nominees for the PCB chairman's post handpicked by Prime Minister Shahbaz Sharif, who is the patron-in-chief of the board and the man who has the final say in appointment. As of now, Ashraf's appointment is just a formality.

Prannoy, Kashyap sail into pre-quarters

TAIPEI: Indian shuttlers HS Prannoy and Parupalli Kashyap cruised into the men's singles pre-quarterfinals of the Taipei Open with straight game wins over their respective rivals here on Wednesday. World No 9 Prannoy took just 26 minutes to dispatch local shuttler Lin Yu-hsien 21-11, 21-10 in the opening round of the BWF World Tour Super 300 tournament. Kashyap too notched up an easy 21-15, 21-16 over Germany's Samuel Hsiao.

Bengaluru FC sign goalkeeper Vikram

BENGALURU: Indian Super League side Bengaluru FC have signed goalkeeper Vikram Singh on a one-year deal, the club said. Vikram, who most recently turned out for Aizawl FC in the I-League, will be part of the Blues' roster for the upcoming ISL campaign. "I'm really excited to start a new journey as I believe it is one that will help me progress as a goalkeeper," said Vikram, after putting pen to paper on his deal.

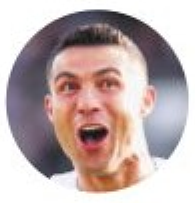
Global Chess League commences today

CHENNAI: The inaugural edition of the Global Chess League is all set to kick-off at the Dubai Chess and Culture Club from Thursday. The first-of-its-kind six-team tournament has a strong Indian flavour to it right from the names of teams. One of the games on opening day is between former world champion Magnus Carlsen and Ian Nepomniachtchi, who lost to Ding Liren in the final of the world championship in May.

Ronaldo marks 200th Portugal cap with winner

AFP @ Paris

CRISTIANO Ronaldo marked his 200th international appearance with the winner as Portugal beat Iceland 1-0 in Euro 2024 qualifying on Tuesday. Elsewhere, Belgium brushed aside the Thibaut Courtois captaincy row by seeing off Estonia thanks to a Romelu Lukaku double in Tallinn. Portugal appeared to be heading towards a drab goalless draw in Reykjavik until Willum Thor Willumsson was sent off late on. Ronaldo struggled for much of the match but repaid coach Roberto Martinez's faith by slotting home from Goncalo Inacio's knock-down in the 89th minute.



Let's Move the world, says IOC with Sindhu at heart of campaign

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

SPORT has the inherent ability to engage and inspire. It has the power to change lives. The International Olympic Committee (IOC) is tapping the potential of sports and sportspersons to attract the masses into exercising or 'to move'. Its going to launch the global 'Let's Move campaign' on June 23. India's multiple Olympic Games medallist PV Sindhu figures among legends like Allyson Felix and Pau Gasol, and other Olympic stars in video clips inviting people to join them for a short exercise session.

In a sneak peak shared with this newspaper, Sindhu speaks about the importance of cool down sessions and shows how to work on the quadriceps through stretching. The bigger goal, however, is to inspire people to take up exercise. "I'm really excited to have sent my Olympic Invite for Olympic Day," she said in a statement shared with this newspaper. "Why? Because it is really important for everyone to keep moving, every day in their daily life. Regular exercise is very important. As athletes, we exercise every day for many hours. Through this 'Let's Move' campaign, I hope to inspire the people to step out and do some sort of exercise, so that they can keep themselves healthy and fit."

The sole objective of such a mass movement is aimed at persuading people, young and old, to find at least 30 minutes in their daily life for exercise. Something that's strangely not happening among majority of the population worldwide. The IOC, through eight superstars will be "inviting people to schedule 30 minutes to work out with them, digitally." Incidentally, the IOC is expecting India to take part in a big way. In an exclusive information shared with this newspaper, the IOC has said Abhinav Bindra Foundation Trust (ABFT) is involved in setting this up "as part of the Olympic Values Education Programme (OVEP) run by ABFT in India, (and) there will be a state-wide activation in Odisha to celebrate Olympic Day. This activation is set to reach a staggering 65,000 schools in the state and will touch approximately 7 million children," said the IOC.

The IOC has said that this Olympic Movement will help encourage and support people around the world to find time in "their daily lives to move in any way, anywhere". The IOC is trying to take sports beyond elite athletes. Leandro Larrosa, IOC Digital Engagement & Marketing Director, put it quite succinctly: "This year on Olympic Day, we want to emphasise that the Olympic Movement goes beyond elite sport and embraces everyone at the local, regional and global level. It is our responsibility and our ambition to inspire young people to move more every day, and to incorporate sport into their daily lives for the sake of their physical and mental wellbeing.

"It was an alarming report from the World Health Organization (WHO) that triggered this idea and this new initiative, as far too many young people are leading sedentary lives. 'Let's Move' is therefore a global initiative in partnership with the WHO. Unsurprisingly, we put athletes at the centre of the campaign in order to inspire people. PV Sindhu was a natural choice as an exemplary athlete, an Olympic medalist and one of India's most successful athletes of all time. We are delighted she is part of the campaign."

DAY'S DIARY

Hand of God

Argentine football player Diego Maradona scored his memorable 'Hand of God' goal on this day in 1986

ABOUT THE GOAL

Maradona had jumped to head the ball but ended up hitting it with his hand which went past the goalkeeper Peter Shilton to give Argentina a lead of 1-0 against England

CAREER GRAPH

Maradona's career with the Argentine national team included World Cup appearances in 1982, 1986, 1990, and 1994. He dominated the 1986 competition

END OF AN ERA

Maradona had health problems in his older days. On November 25, 2020, he suffered a heart attack and passed away at the age of 60

A CONTENTIOUS INTERPRETATION

The controversy surrounding the film Adipurush has sparked intense debates and discussions regarding the portrayal of religious figures and the boundaries of creative expression. Dese Gowda speaks to creative professionals, who weigh in on the controversy

PRAKASH BELAWADI, ACTOR

I have not seen the movie, and it's unlikely that I'll ever see it, because I'm not very fond of mega blockbuster movies. I haven't seen Pathaan either. Adipurush might be a distasteful movie, but there is no law against bad taste. This country has laws and courts and only when somebody violates a law does censorship come into the picture. I believe censorship should be abolished and when mobs decide what kind of films can be done, it becomes even worse. As long as a film is legal, I'm okay with it. So, if someone is calling for a ban on the film, the state should go out of its way to ensure that film can be screened.

V NAGENDRA PRASAD, LYRICIST-COMPOSER

I'm not happy with the presentation of the film. They have tried something else and obviously it hasn't worked out. I feel like they missed the basic essence of the original epic. They've changed aspects of the story that are so universally known that it simply doesn't connect with anyone. I wrote the Kannada lyrics for the movie and I wasn't aware of the direction that the filmmakers had taken. I think the director Om Raut's heart was in the right place. He wanted to retell the story of Ramayana, but the presentation was just not up to par and I was very disappointed.

SUMANA KITTUR, FILMMAKER

Fundamentally, interpretations and reinterprations of epics should always be welcomed and there have been many over the years. For instance, Mani Ratnam's Raavan explored the age-old story from a different perspective. I am yet to watch Adipurush. I've been intrigued by all the talk about it. I think the filmmakers had a different vision in mind and possibly wanted to make a film in line with superhero movies, but they might have failed in their execution. Given all the talk about a lack of logic in the film, I also wonder how an actor like Prabhas could have picked this script.

KIRTANA KUMAR, AUTHOR-DRAMATIST

I haven't watched Adipurush, but seems like the film seems to have irked both ends of the political spectrum! Personally, I feel the Ramayana and Mahabharata have retained their relevance and beauty because historically, they have always been reinterpreted to reflect on the human condition and the needs of the times. There have been many interpretations of the Ramayana! We have, ourselves, made plays based on a reinterpretation of the legends of Savitri. Also, a Shakuntala[play] that harked back to the Srimad Bhagavatam rather than Kalidasa. But it all depends on intentionality.

RITHWIK SIMHA, DRAMATIST

In creative arts, liberty is absolutely essential. But when someone attempts any kind of creative interpretation of an original text, especially with the epics, they need to act responsibly. Creative liberty cannot be used to distort the original text. I believe the film is a very crude attempt compared to the innumerable variations of Ramayana that already exist. The use of colloquial language in the dialogues are also jarring. While many oral retelling do use colloquial language to make the story accessible to people, the film just uses it unevenly. So, I wouldn't even call it creative liberty, because there is no creativity in this film.

On the Grinning Road

Delhi-based comedian Neeti Palta, who was in the city recently as part of her country-wide tour, talks about the Bengaluru audience, her personal take on comedy and being a judge on the popular reality TV show Comicstaan

TUNIR BISWAS

Neeti Palta is a known face in the Indian standup circuit. Presently, the Delhi-based comedian has embarked on a country-wide tour where she will be performing in multiple cities, with her most recent show being in Bengaluru on June 18 at Just BLR Comedy Club, Brigade Road.

"The tour has been going great so far. Both the Hyderabad and the Bengaluru shows were sold out. For the latter, we even had to add more seats. I have been performing in this city for more than ten years at this point, and it is my favourite city to perform in. I have always felt the audience here gets my humour. Sometimes I don't even say the punchline, I just smile at them, and they understand. They are very on the ball," shares Palta, who adds that her next show is in Nagpur on June 23 and she is greatly anticipating it since it will be her first time performing there.

The show that she is touring with is named Ulta Palta. "I genuinely feel we have all started taking ourselves far too seriously. We're still getting out of the pandemic days also. Ulta Palta is basically me trying to make sense of this world which has gone 'ulta' (flipped). The show is a mix of anecdotal and observational humour along with some social commentary," says Palta who has been performing comedy professionally for 13 years.

Compared to the early 2010s, when citizens still held the notion that standup is a 'YouTube' thing and not an inherently live art form, Palta feels the audience is now somewhat halfway there. "Well, thanks to YouTube many of the views we get in our videos have converted into ticket sales. There are always those people who don't have access to live shows, so their only way is to watch through YouTube. But then there are also those people who want to watch everything for free (laughs)," explains the Delhi-based comedian.

Sharing her personal philosophy about comedy, that 'nothing is funnier than the truth', Palta says, "Every time someone takes offence to a joke, I always wonder if maybe they need to ponder whether they are being offended by the joke or the truth in the joke. It is a very fine line. And comedy doesn't just come out of thin air, it comes from certain observations and experiences."

Palta has also been a judge in the popular reality show Comicstaan's seasons 2 and 3. She feels the comedy fan in her always got in the way of her judgements. "I am a big fan of comedy. In the beginning, I used to completely forget that I have to judge. I just listened to them like a member of the audience. I was naturally enjoying or not enjoying the set, and then suddenly everyone was looking at me for my opinion, and I used to go like 'Oh no, one second' (laughs). I hope my advice helped the comedians become better," she concludes, mentioning that she is presently working on two shows, one of which is a dark comedy tentatively titled Wicked.

Theatrical Extravaganza

The Bangalore School of Speech And Drama commemorates their silver jubilee of evocative and creative storytelling through their latest production

RONAK JAIN

THE Bangalore School of Speech & Drama is coming out with their rendition of Peter Pan, as part of their 25th year celebrations. It promises a remarkable adventure with Peter, Tinker Bell, the lost boys, and Captain Hook as they capture the wonders of childhood and the magic of friendship. The play is happening on June 23 and 24 at St. John's Auditorium in Koramangala.

Zulfia Shaikh, the director of the play, established the Bangalore School of Speech and Drama (BSSD) in 1998 to meet the demand for a licensed school where kids in Bengaluru could acquire training in public speaking, oratory, and performing abilities. She always enjoyed performing and when schools found out about her, she worked with them for free but later understood there was a legitimate need for such a platform. When she started her own drama school it began modestly but rapidly expanded by word of mouth beyond what she had ever imagined.

On the cast of the play, Shaikh says, "Drawing out children's emotions is never difficult when working with them. They are shrewd and perceptive when it comes to recognising and expressing sentiments. The technical difficulties of setting up the stage, lighting, and environment overall with a low budget present the biggest obstacle. Nevertheless, we rise to the occasion," adding that that the production was scripted by JM Barrie and includes all kinds of theatrical special effects to enhance the plot.

Shaikh has never second-guessed her students. "I've learned to never undervalue children since they never cease to astound and astonish me. I have been teaching for 25 years and have never had a single student let me down."

She mentions that societal gender biases never came in the way of her setting up her institution. "Being a woman has not posed any obstacles in my journey. In fact, it has allowed me to connect with children easily. I have received positive reception and support for the high-quality work we deliver at our institute. Word of mouth has helped us gain recognition, and we provide our students with international theatre experiences. Our curriculum ensures accelerated learning and tangible growth for the children we work with," she concludes.

FIT BIT

DWIKONASANA VARIATION

(STANDING YOGA SEAL POSE VARIATION)

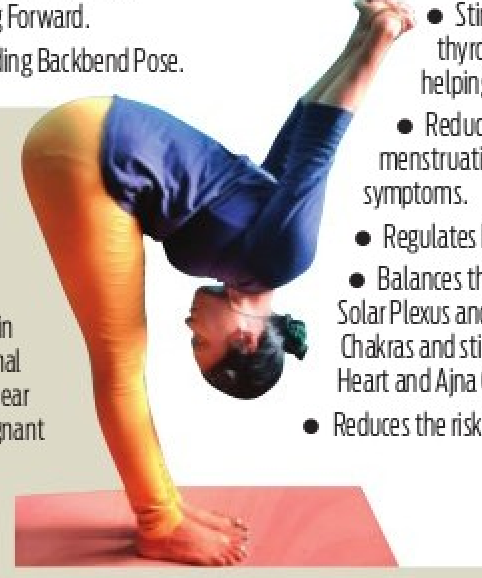
It is a forward fold pose variation of Uttanasana (Standing Forward Fold Pose). This intermediate-level pose is typically performed as part of warm-up practice. It can help relieve respiratory disorders and treat frozen shoulders in early stages.

STEPS

- Start in Tadasana (Mountain Pose). Take a few deep breaths here with your shoulders rolled back and down.
- Inhale, stretch the arms, rotate the shoulders, and bring the hands behind you. Interlock the fingers as you expand the chest and compress the shoulder blades.
- Stay here for a breath and pull the arms behind you downwards, preparing for a forward bend.
- Breathe, expand your torso and tuck your belly in.
- Exhaling, bend from the hips. Extend your interlocked arms overhead.
- Softly lift the arms away from the body, drawing the tips of the shoulders back and bringing the shoulder blades together.
- Stay here for about six breaths with conscious breathing. To release, inhale, look up first, then lift the entire torso and come up.
- Exhale and release the arms. Finally, relax in Mountain Pose Palms Facing Forward.
- Practise a counterpose, Standing Backbend Pose.

BENEFITS

- Stretches and strengthens the arms, shoulders, neck and upper back.
- Helps to stretch hamstrings, calves, knees and lower back.
- Activates core and quadriceps, engaging body balance.
- Helps runners and athletes.
- Improves shoulders mobility and spinal flexibility.
- Stimulates the respiratory system.
- Improves focus, concentration, and spinal alignment.
- Promotes a smooth flow of prana.
- Releases unwanted stress.
- Manages symptoms of anxiety or depression.
- Massages digestive and reproductive organs.
- Stimulates the thyroid gland, helping imbalances.
- Reduces menstruation and pcos symptoms.
- Regulates blood sugar.
- Balances the Sacral, Solar Plexus and Throat Chakras and stimulates Heart and Ajna Chakras.
- Reduces the risk of obesity.



LIMITATIONS

People with any injuries, those recovering from surgeries or a long illness, have general body weakness, weak joints, arthritis, slipped disc, acute lower back pain or sciatica, peptic ulcers, abdominal hernia, diarrhoea, high BP, eye or ear infection, senior citizens and pregnant women should avoid this.

FIRST PERIOD :

HOW LONG IT LASTS, EARLY SIGNS & SELF CARE TIPS

DR RUBINA SHANAWAZ Z

THE average age for the first period is between 10 and 12 years. You can expect the first period to start earlier if your body mass index is more than average or later if you are underweight, undergoing stress or having hormonal imbalance.

The first signs of puberty are breast growth followed by growth of underarm and pubic hair, increase in height and change of body shape. Approximately two years after the first signs of puberty, you can expect your first period to start. This can range between six months to three years.

Inspite of appearance of other signs of puberty, if bleeding does not start by the age of 15, please consult your gynecologist who will need to examine you and will then ask for relevant investigations which might include ultrasound and blood hormone assays.

What are the early signs?

Apart from the growth of breasts, pubic and underarm hair growth spurt, which happen over a span of two-three years, the immediate preceding signs mostly include (but not always a dictum):

- Increased watery vaginal discharge
- Lower abdominal cramps
- Acne
- Abdominal bloating
- Extreme mood swings

What colour will my first period be?

The colour can vary from dark brown to bright red to dark red.

How much can I expect to bleed?

The nature of the first period can vary from mild spotting to slightly heavier flow with small clots.

How long will my first period last?

For some girls, the first period might only be spotting for a couple of days. For others, it can last for a week. The average duration of a period is between two-seven days.

For the first three years after the period starts, the number of days of flow as well as the gap between two periods can fluctuate, occuring once in two-three months or even longer.

Consult your gynecologist if :

- There is continuous bleeding for more than seven days
- The gap between two periods is less than 20 days
- You feel dizzy/tired
- You experience unbearable pain during periods
- Delayed periods with more than a 45-60 day gap even after two-three years from the first period.

SELF CARE TIPS

FOR THE FIRST PERIOD

When you notice blood after using the toilet or if your clothes gets stained, try to get any absorbent material like tissue paper and place it on underpants as a temporary measure. Inform your trusted adult, for further guidance.

Based on personal preferences, the choice of menstrual hygiene products range from period underwear to sanitary napkin to tampon to menstrual cup. Educate yourself about the pros and cons of each, and experiment with a couple of options, which will then help you choose the right choice based on your lifestyle.

CRAMPS

Use a hot water bag on the lower abdomen

Drink warm fluids

Use over the counter pain killers like Paracetamol or Mefenemic acid to relieve your pain.

Keep yourself physically active

MENSTRUAL HYGIENE

- Change your pad every three-four hours even if not fully soaked /empty your menstrual cup every six-eight hours without fail
- Be prepared for leaks initially and have extra sanitary products of choice with you
- Wash the pubic area only externally and do not attempt to douche (clean the inside if the vagina). Douching can lead to vaginal infections due to change in the ph value of the vaginal fluids
- Track your periods in a journal/on an app to identify any irregularity
- Remember that pregnancy is a possibility and be aware of your reproductive health

The first period, like all first experiences in life, can be daunting and terrifying, but as you settle down, armed with the right information, you will understand your body the best!

Eating disorders, self-harm rose among teenage girls during pandemic

There has been a large rise in eating disorder diagnoses and self-harm episodes among teenage girls in the years since the Covid-19 pandemic, according to a study published in The Lancet Child and Adolescent Health. The study based on analysis of electronic health records of over 9 million patients aged 10 to 24 years between 2010 and 2022 in the UK showed that since March 2020, eating disorders were 42 per cent higher than would be expected based on previous trends for females aged 13-16, and 32 per cent higher for those aged 17-19. The increase in incidence of self-harm was also greatest among females aged 13-16, with the number of episodes being 38 per cent greater than expected. —IANS

Prototype machine can predict future diseases

A team of scientists from Indian Institute of Information Technology, Allahabad have designed a prototype of a machine that will be able to detect the probability of a person developing any ailment in future. The machine, 'Medical Cyber Physical System for Healthcare', will be able to tell what disease an individual may suffer in future or what will be the cause of the disease. According to Sonali Agarwal, lead researcher and assistant professor at the department of electronics and communication, the data of the physical parameters of the person will be collected in 15 to 20 minutes from this sensor-equipped machine. IIIT has applied for the patent of the prototype, with plans to make the machine available on the market. —IANS

RISHAB SHETTY TAKES ON NEW CHALLENGES FOR KANTARA PREQUEL

Rishab Shetty

The director, who is currently in the preparation stage, the lead actor, is also undergoing rigorous training including horse riding and Kalaripayattu

A SHARADHAA

RISHAB Shetty's Kantara was one of the biggest pan-Indian blockbusters of 2022. With a prequel to the film in the works, the excitement surrounding the project is palpable. There have been reports that the production house, Hombale Films has set Kantara prequel's launch date as August 27. However, our reliable sources close to the production team have stated that the dates are still being finalised and discussions are ongoing.

Kantara 2 will serve as a prelude to the 2022 film, with a new narrative that focuses on the 'backstory of the deity' which holds immense significance to the village depicted in the movie. A source close to the team shares that the story is shaping up on a grand scale, and Rishab is leaving no stone unturned in his efforts and is working from his hometown, where the film was set.

While Rishab is exploring the subject, and uncovering unexplored aspects of the film, he is also dedicating time to undergo rigorous training and is reportedly learning horse riding skills and the popular art of Kalari Payattu.

While Kantara starred a host of actors including Sapthami Gowda, and Achyuth Kumar, among others, there have been no details about the cast of Kantara prequel except for the presence of Rishab. Incidentally, Rishab is reuniting with Kantara composer Ajaneesh Loknath and cinematographer Arvind Kashyap for the prequel too.

If all goes well, the makers have plans to commence filming in September, although it is yet to be finalised.

Chaya Singh

'If you want to reach the audience, you have to take different measures'

says Chaya Singh, who is currently content with balancing both the films and the small screen

CE FEATURES

NOTED South Indian actor Chaya Singh is thriving on both the small screen and the big screen. The actor, who is currently in the spotlight for her serial Amurthadhare in Kannada, is set to join Shivarajkumar-Narthan's Bhairathi Ranagal. She was also part of their previous collaboration, Mufti. On her return to Kannada cinema after a hiatus, Chaya shares that the decision to make Bhairathi Ranagal was made after Mufti (2017)., but it took time to come together. "I feel lucky to be doing good things in my career at this time. Working with a star like Shivarajkumar and director Narthan will be a different experience altogether. I'm eagerly waiting for the film to go on floors," she says.

Regarding her character in *Bhairathi Ranaga*l, which is a prequel to Mufti, Chaya says, "In Mufti, we see a tiff between my Vedhavathi, and her brother Bhairathi Ranagal. Somewhere, the story left a lot of questions about his behaviour, and why he is like that. I guess with a prequel, it makes it interesting to see how both these characters shaped into what they were in Mufti."

When asked about her choices of roles today, Chaya says she has always been selective in her career. "From the beginning, I chose characters that blend into the story and connect with the audience. Sometimes things go wrong, but that's part of it," she says.

Working in two different mediums, Chaya reveals that the reason for her foray into the small screen in Kannada was definitely the script of Amruthadhare. "While being on the silver screen puts you in the limelight, being a household name is different. The serial provided that opportunity. Today, if I go out, people recognise me and say, "Hey, I see you every evening at 7 pm," and I proudly respond, Yes," says Chaya as she points out that the pandemic impacted the theatre-going habit. "If you want to reach the audience, you have to take different measures, including OTT and series."

Apart from Bhairathi Ranagal, the actor is also part of Dinakar Thoogudeepa's upcoming directorial Royal starring Virat, and she has completed shooting for it. She also has a Tamil film that is yet to go on floors. "I love working, and that's what motivates me to get out of bed and go out. However, cinema is much easier as you have time to prepare. Television requires long hours of work and less time to prepare. You are challenged to keep your character in check, and it is amazing how fast your mind works when you are on the sets of a serial, which is not the case in films," she says.

Indiana Jones and the power of luck

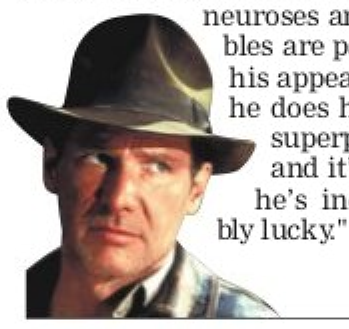
CE FEATURES

WHILE the world awaits Indiana Jones to swing back into action, director James Mangold lays bare his own dissection of the iconic character. "Indiana Jones is a character that always surprises us. He can be selfish, he can be empathic, he can be brave, he can be a coward. And Harrison holds all these contradictory elements together." Mangold goes on to talk about how the character manages to exude extraordinary appeal despite being a grounded character. He says, "Indiana Jones is not a Greek hero on Mount Olympus, he's a very human character. I think all his eccentricities and anxieties and neuroses and foibles are part of his appeal. But he does have a superpower, and it's that he's incredibly lucky."



Aditya, Ranjani Raghavan join forces for a suspense thriller

CE FEATURES

ADITYA of Deadly Soma fame, has signed on for his next project, a suspense thriller. The actor has quietly started shooting for the film, which is yet to be titled. This film also marks the directorial debut of Kishore Megalamane, who has also written the storyline, screenplay, and dialogues.

A group of investors is coming together to finance the project, and in just seventeen days, the team has already completed filming some important scenes in Chikkamagaluru and Bangalore.

Ranjani Raghavan, popular for her appearances in serials like Puttgowri Maduve and Kannadati, who has made a transition to the silver screen will be playing the female lead alongside Aditya, sharing the screen space with him for the first time.

The music for the film will be composed by Shashank Seshagiri, while Uday Leela is handling the cinematography. Arjun Kittu is in charge of the editing.

In addition to Aditya and Ranjani Raghavan, the cast includes Shivamani, Ashwin Haasan, Karisubbu, and others. The filmmakers are in the final stages of shooting and will soon reveal the film's title and other details.

AURA SETS A RELEASE DATE

CE FEATURES

Ashwin Vijayamurthy's debut, Aura, is all set to hit theaters on July 28. The team began the promotional activities, and the first video song titled Preethiya Amantrana was released recently. The makers will follow with three more songs, which they plan to release closer to the release of the film.

Aura, which is predominantly shot in Udupi, is billed as a blend of drama, suspense, romance, thriller, and commercial elements. "The lead actor, played by A R Rohit, portrays six different shades, incorporating divine elements like Narasimha and Anjaneya. The other protagonist, played by Deepika Aradhya, unravels the mystical book of Aura, presenting a spiritual and dramatic journey," explains the director.

The film's cast also includes Sathya Raj, and Anand Ninasam, among others in important roles. Aura is bankrolled by Chandrashekar C Jambigi in association with and Sujatha Chadaga. AR Rohit also serves as the writer of the film, while Sri Hari handles the cinematography. The film's music is scored by Girish Hothur.

FROM SCAM TO SCOOP

KARTIK BHARDWAJ

THE theme of Scam 1992: The Harshad Mehta Story, over two years since the show's release, stands at 28 million views on its composer Achint Thakkar's YouTube page. There is a pinned comment by Achint on the video which reads "Lyrics Below" followed by an ellipsis and a "Read More" that has no hyperlink. There isn't any other text written after. A true scam.

The comment has a barrage of replies (392 as I write this) most of them speculating on the lyrics. "It's Jiya Meri Girlfriend (It's my girlfriend Jiya)," posts one, "Piya be dardi?" (Stone-hearted lover?) surmises another. Some are rather pessimistic, "This has lyrics?"

A Google search gives a consistent and rather ironic answer. "Hila De Sar Se (Shake them by the head)." Achint disagrees. "That's not correct," he says. Still, he refuses to settle the debate. "The lyrics will remain a mystery I take to my grave."

Over a Zoom call, the composer sounds a bit aloof, like somebody who lets his work do the talking. Apart from Scam... Achint has also crafted the theme for Rocket Boys and has given music for Vasan Bala's Monica, O My Darling. His latest work has been on another Hansal Mehta outing, Scoop, for which he came up with a techno theme with his signature beat-drops. We speak with the composer on his collaboration with the director, finding "the sound" and why he tends to procrastinate.

Excerpts:

You collaborated with Hansal Mehta for the second time with Scoop. The theme for it feels very you, with the electronic music and techno beats. What was the brief given by Hansal?

There was no brief as such. He just told me that the series is about journalist Jyotirmoy Dey's murder and will revolve around a newsroom. From there I did my own research and read up about Jigna Vora and her arrest. I realised that it was a very unfortunate, sad story.

Giving background music for scenes and situations in a film or a series is one thing but how do you crack the theme that sort of defines the entire project?

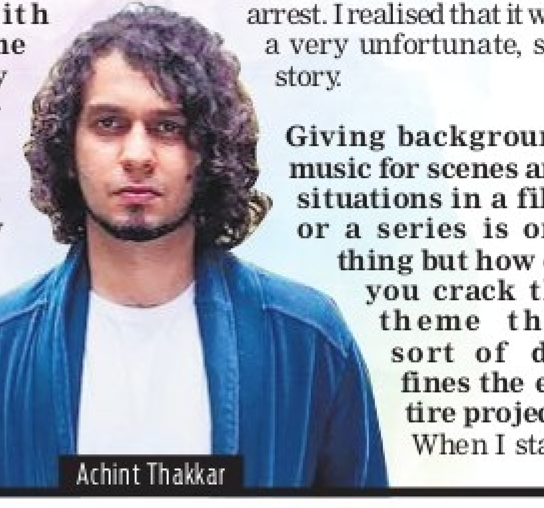
When I start working on the theme, I am thinking in terms of what is the general overview of the series or film. The music should put one in the overall feeling of the project or its characters. Listeners should get a taste of what is impending. When I hear the synopsis or read the script, I try to envision how the series would look and what sound will go with it.

How much time does that process take? I have heard that you tend to procrastinate...

Yes, that's true. I procrastinate a lot (laughs). I would say I wait for the sound to "come to me". But when it comes, it does very quickly. I need to wait to land on the right feeling and sometimes that takes time.

In this period do you listen to other songs or any music for inspiration?

I do listen to other stuff but I am actively not seeking inspiration. I go on about my work and wait for myself to be in the right frame of mind to let inspiration strike.



Achint Thakkar
